Closed GCHS campus studied

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The idea of closing the Granite City High School campus during lunch hours has been kicked around for years, but the kicking might end March 28, when a committee studying the prospect is expected to make a recommendation.

"We don't want fear to go out into the public that we're going to do this or we aren't going to do this," said Jolene Terrell, school board president. "We're gathering information at this point."

The latest piece of information was a report compiled by board member and Granite City Police Lt. Roy Koberna, presented at the March 7 meeting.

Koberna's 11-page report shows "everything that's happened around the area of the school in the last year and a half, that's been reported," Koberna said. The statistics date from Sept. 1, 1987, until Feb. 28, 1989.

One of the sections of the report concerns traffic accidents occurring in the vicinity of the high school.

Koberna's statistics show that 117 accidents — ranging from "fender benders" to a Feb. 10 accident resulting in the death of a 61-year-old woman and light really was malfunctioning," Koberna said.

School Superintendent Gib Walmsley has now proposed 4-foot fencing around the campus to channel students to the crosswalk in an effort to curb jaywalking.

Although a letter to that effect was sent to IDOT nearly two weeks ago, the district has received no response, Walmsley said. Walmsley said he would pursue the matter following spring break (March 20-26) if a response was not received.

The highest concentration of police calls contained in the report, 123, was to check on students congregating around area businesses.

The complaints included harassing customers; drug use, fighting; and gathering in large groups. More than half of the incidents took place during lunch hours.

In spite of the complaints, some businesses look upon the students at lunch as a blessing.

A phone survey of 36 area restaurants/businesses conducted last November by school officials indicated that a closed campus would be damaging to them.

Of the 36, 24 favored an open campus, eight favored a closed campus and four were undecided. Of those surveyed, 40 percent indicated that a closed campus would hurt their business.

To close the campus, several things would be necessary.

Walmsley said significant numbers of students leave and return to the campus daily to report to cooperative jobs and to attend off-campus training programs. If the campus was closed, those students would have to be assigned special parking spaces and a way to identify them would be needed, Walmsley said.

These are some of the same concerns Walmsley voiced in 1983 when the matter was explored then. As principal, Walmsley opposed the campus closing then as well as the eradication of a smoking area.

The smoking area has since been phased out, this year being the first year in which students are not allowed to smoke on campus.

Walmsley said that beginning with the freshman class four years ago, the privilege was removed from a class at a time.

(See CAMPUS, Page 8A)

ACCIDENTS AROUND the high school campus during the last 18 months are shown by the numbers in the starburst areas. Most of the accidents occurred during lunch hours and are believed linked, in part, to the open-campus policy, which allows students to leave school grounds for lunch, etc.

the serious injury of her son — happened in the immediate vicinity of the school.

Of the 117, 21.5 percent of the accidents occurred after noon but before 2 p.m., during lunch hours. One-third of those 25 accidents occurred at the intersection of Jill Avenue and Nameoki Road.

The largest number of accidents, 31, occurred after 3 p.m. but before 5 p.m.

Not all of the accidents involved students, Koberna said.

He asked the Illinois Department of Transportation for the construction of a pedestrian overpass from Jill Avenue over Nameoki Road, but last fall IDOT denied the request, attributing the accidents to student misuse of an existing light at a crosswalk there.

Koberna's report also shows that 12 calls were made regarding malfunctioning of that light.

Of these calls, seven times IDOT had to be called in for repairs because the

Pontoon creates library

PONTOON BEACH — The first free public library in the village will be established for residents. It was decided Tuesday night.

Trustees authorized creation of a free library which will be established and maintained by the village without any additional tax levy for that purpose, the ordinance states.

The project will be financed through donations of books and funds and is being created under state statutes governing village libraries.

The idea for a library initially was proposed by Alice Lucas, who is employed as librarian for the Desoto, Mo., School District. She was asked by Mayor Glen Wilson on Jan. 24 to head a committee to research the proposal.

Lucas, Judy Merritt and Robbie Wilson, all village residents comprising the research committee, were appointed by Wilson Tuesday night to serve as directors on the new library board.

"Everything is being done on a voluntary basis," Lucas said Tuesday.

"The appointment of directors hopefully is a way of putting it together. (We are)

Complaint filed in death

GRANITE CITY — A complaint filed by the Missouri Board of Registration for the Healing Arts alleges a St. Louis doctor improperly contributed to the death of a 13-year-old Granite City boy last summer.

Dr. Richard Lagueruela, an anesthesiologist undergoing postgraduate training at Washington University Medical Center, removed Matthew Wayne Chandler from a respirator at Children's Hospital in St. Louis on July 15 at family members' request, a medical center spokesman said. The boy, who was suffering from muscular dystrophy, died a short time later.

The complaint, filed with the Missouri Administrative Hearing Commission, questions his alleged injection of potassium chloride after the respirator had been turned off; potassium chloride can result in heart-stopping and there was no medical reason to use it, it was contended.

The complaint also cites Lagueruela's alleged administration of morphine and barbituates to Chandler and withdrawal of other treatments prior to turning off the respirator, saying these acts contributed to his death.

The board did not question Lagueruela's responsibility to turn off the respirator after a family request.

A spokesman for Washington University Medical Center said Wednesday that a review by Dr. Harvey Colten, its chief of pediatrics, and by the medical center and hospital staffs found that Lagueruela had not acted improperly and that an investigation by St. Louis Circuit Attorney George Peach had come to the same conclusion.

Children's Hospital is part of the Washington University Medical Center. A joint statement by them issued early this week said: "We are very disappointed by the board's continuance of the matter. We feel confident the board would reach the same conclusions as the St. Louis circuit attorney and our internal reviews."

"We will continue to cooperate fully, with regret for the hardships it is causing the Chandler family and Dr. Lagueruela."

Chandler was the son of John and Sandy Chandler of Granite City. He was a ninth-grade student at Grigsby Junior High School and had attended Parkview Elementary School.

Steel workers get bonuses

GRANITE CITY — Employees at Granite City Steel were to receive bonuses yesterday and today, said company spokesman Ben Johannpeter.

The average hourly worker here was to get about $2,100, Johannpeter said, and the average salaried worker about $1,000, nearly $300 more per worker here than at other National Steel Corp. divisions.

Profit-sharing bonuses are based on the 1986 labor agreement, which pays employees a bonus for each hour worked. The amount of the bonus is determined by the net adjusted profit of the corporation. By terms of the agreement, hourly workers got $1 per hour, and salaried workers got 50 cents per hour.

National paid out more than $26 million in bonuses this year. Included in that figure is more than $6 million in productivity bonuses — $2.8 million of which was paid to workers here. The total is 24 percent more than was paid out in 1987.

Total bonuses averaged about $2,600 for hourly workers, Johannpeter said, but he added that "for quite a few, it will be over $3,000."

Nameoki Township endorses 911

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

NAMEOKI — Anyone who doesn't know about the proposed 911 service should, just in time for the April 4 election.

The township board passed a proclamation Monday night declaring March 25 to April 1 "911 Awareness Week."

"This is really a good thing and I have always advocated it," Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. said.

The proposal, which will be on the April 4 ballot, seeks a 65-cent surcharge to be applied to monthly phone bills. The surcharge would be used to generate funds for the cost of equipment and initial set-up of the emergency call service during the next two to three years, Briggs said.

After that, the charge would drop significantly and be used to cover maintenance costs of the service.

The service would be countywide. Currently, only Highland and Edwardsville have the service. (See 911, Page 8A)

Brown tells tales

By Bill Winter

About 200 persons at the annual Salvation Army civic banquet Tuesday night were whisked by imagination to African and Asian jungles as Dana Brown told of varied hunting experiences.

Creating vivid scenes of remote lands where elephants, rhinos, hippos, lions, leopards and tigers still roam and reign, the nation's most active safari leader assured the audience, "It's a lot of fun."

"It's a joy, if you do it right. But many hunters have died over the years because wild animals are so much quicker than humans and nearly all of them want you for dinner."

Slowed late in life by a leg injury suffered when he was caught in an animal-snare, the explorer and office executive said he will lead still another

Roadblocks don't stop driver

PONTIAC BEACH — A pursuit through several communities at speeds estimated at in excess of 100 mph started in Pontiac Beach and ended there with the arrest of a 17-year-old driver.

Russell D. Holliday of the 4200 block of Division Street, Pontiac Beach, managed to evade four roadblocks while being pursued at various times by police units from Pontiac Beach, Fairmont City, Granite City, Madison and the Illinois State Police.

Holliday was booked on 11 charges filed by Pontiac Beach and three charges by the Fairmont City Police Department.

The chase began at 8:35 p.m. Friday, March 10, when an officer responded to a report of a vehicle traveling at high speed through the Village Green Mobile Home Park on Lake Drive.

The car was located by Pontiac Beach Patrolman Dan Albert. The driver fled south on Lake Drive, passing stop signs at Illinois 162 and State Aid 35.

Activating the squad car's lights and sirens, Albert took up the pursuit with the fleeing car heading east on State Aid 35 and then south on Illinois 111, running another vehicle off the road, it was alleged.

Traveling at speeds up to 100 mph, the car began passing other vehicles on 111, with several getting off the road to avoid the suspect's car, authorities said. Details of the pursuit were relayed to other law enforcement agencies via ISPERN (Illinois State Police Radio Network).

After going south on Sand Prairie Lane, the car turned east on Collinsville Road and then north on a side street with a Fairmont City police car in front and Albert's squad car behind the fleeing auto. The driver allegedly tried to ram both police units.

At Black Lane, the auto traveled through a yard and went north to Interstate 70, entering the interstate's westbound lanes and allegedly reached speeds of 115 mph. It briefly went out of control at the Illinois 111 exit, going into southbound lanes but then proceeding north on 111.

Police set up two roadblocks on Illinois 111, one north of Sand Prairie Lane and the other south of Illinois 162. The auto drove past both roadblocks at high speed and continued north on 111. At Chain of Rocks Road, the suspect allegedly tried to ram a Pontiac Beach squad car and the Fairmont City car.

The car continued northwest on Chain of Rocks Road to Illinois 203 and then turned southwest toward Granite City.

Six police vehicles had joined the chase at this point.

Roadblocks set up east and west of Maryville Road on Illinois 203 also failed to deter the fleeing suspect, who evaded the units and continued on, reaching Pontiac Beach and turning east.

The driver went past stop signs on Pontiac Road at Franklin Avenue and Johnson Road and a traffic signal light at Maryville Road, it was alleged.

Arriving back inside the village limits, the car turned east on Division Street, a dead-end road, and then went into a driveway. A man got out of the car and started to run; the alleged driver then was caught and taken to police headquarters.

Pontiac Beach charges against Holliday included fleeing and attempting to elude a police officer, reckless driving, driving without a valid driver license, two counts of disobeying stop signs, three counts of disobeying traffic control devices, improper passing, speeding and disobeying a police officer.

Fairmont City police charged Holliday with fleeing and attempting to elude a police officer, speeding and driving without a valid driver license.

Holliday was taken to the Venice City Jail, where he posted $202 bail and was released pending a court appearance.

Vandalia warrant served

After receiving a report of a man sleeping in a truck in front of a business in the 1500 block of Madison Avenue at 2:30 a.m. March 6, a police officer talked with the occupant, William G. Downen, 50, of Vandalia and sent him on his way.

About three hours later, police received a report of the same truck being parked outside an auto body shop in the 1400 block of Iowa Street. Downen was checked again and found to have a warrant against him.

Downen was taken to police headquarters and served the warrant issued through the Fayette County Sheriff's Office in Vandalia, alleging failure to appear on a charge of non-support of a minor child. He posted $100 bail and was released pending a court appearance.

Electric guitar stolen

Hugh Allen of the 2800 block of Jordan Avenue reported March 7 that a locked door in a room at his residence was forced and several items were stolen. Missing were a Fender electric guitar and case valued at $300, a four-slice toaster worth $30, a toaster oven valued at $45, a necklace and rings.

Two passengers injured

Two passengers were injured in a collision in the 3600 block of Nameoki Road at 2:15 p.m. March 8.

James P. Grider, 26, of the 4000 block of Kathy Drive, Pontiac Beach, was driving south and passing a line of stopped vehicles in the adjacent lane when a car operated by Andrea D. Andrews, 25, of the 2300 block of Paul Avenue entered the highway from a private driveway and a collision occurred.

Joshua Grider, 7 months old, and Mary Grider, 24, both of the Kathy Drive address, sustained injuries and Joshua was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Grider was charged with driving while his license was suspended for safety responsibility. He was released on a notice to appear for a hearing April 14.

Pontiac Beach charges

John J. Nolan, 24, of the 1300 block of Carr Street was arrested March 8 at his address on a Pontiac Beach warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of criminal trespass to property. He was transferred to Pontiac Beach custody.

$200 television stolen

A burglar entered the home of Robin McCord in the 2300 block of August Street through a window and stole a 19-inch television valued at $200, it was reported March 2.

Six warrants served

Cary Howard Whitehead, 35, of the 2400 block of East 24th Street was arrested March 4 at 24th Street and Washington Avenue on six warrants, alleging failure to appear on charges of driving under the influence of alcohol, criminal trespass to property, creating a nuisance, driving while his license was suspended and two counts of disorderly conduct.

LEADERSHIP?

FOUR YEARS AGO CANDIDATE VON DEE CRUSE STATED IN A MAYORAL DEBATE:

"I will attempt to improve communications by conducting town hall forums to give citizens the opportunity to question the mayor and his administration. In order to get the community involved, I would appoint citizens' task forces to help with special programs."

ALTHOUGH WE HARDLY GOT THE CHANCE TO QUESTION YOU MAYOR AT THE PROMISED TOWN HALL FORUMS, WE NOW ASK:

Why did you have 4 different police chiefs and three assistant chiefs during your 4 year term? Could this be a reflection of the present turmoil and low morale on our police department?

Why did you have 3 different fire chiefs and 4 assistant chiefs?

Why did your assistant mayor quit?

Why did the well-respected comptroller quit?

Why are two out of the three man attorney staff no longer part of your team?

Why does at least half the city council no longer want you as mayor?

WHY, VON DEE, IS THERE NO UNITY OF PURPOSE IN YOUR ADMINISTRATION?

Pickup truck hits car, house

VENICE — A pickup truck struck a parked car and then the concrete porch of a house in the 1200 block of Market Street at 3:30 a.m. Friday. The driver sustained an injury and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Robert E. Lott, 21, of the 1200 block of Douglas Street said he was making a left turn from Selb Street onto Market heading east, when his truck began to fishtail on the wet pavement, causing him to lose control of the vehicle.

Police said the truck crossed the road and hit a parked car owned by Avery Crawford and then went into the front yard at the home of Riverlee Reed.

The truck damaged a fence and hit the corner of the Reed home. Wrought iron railings and supports of the corner porch also were damaged, a report said. Estimated cost of the property damaged has not been determined.

Lott was lying on the seat inside the truck with his hand caught in the steering wheel when an officer arrived at the scene. The injured man was taken by Campbell Ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated.

Lott was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving too fast for conditions and failing to wear a seat belt.

After appearing Friday afternoon at the Granite City court, Lott was released on recognizance, pending an April 27 appearance at the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville.

The needs of you and your family are just as important to me as my family. My commitment is to help you, the people. I am not seeking the office of Venice Township Supervisor for any personal reasons, as a political stepping stone, or because I have anything against the current administration. I believe the citizens of Venice Township deserve only the best and I intend to do everything I can to help our low income families and senior citizens receive the help they so desperately need.

We all encounter roadblocks in everyday lives, but we should never give up hope. With faith and good leadership we can overcome many obstacles.

I strongly urge you to vote for the party of your choice. Don't be misled by promises or bribes.

If elected Venice Township Supervisor, I will serve you and help you. Your problems will be my problems. Together we can help solve them and take away some of the burden I have pledged to:

- Assist families in real need of financial help.
- Fight against higher utility rates and taxes.
- Work to re-establish the eye glass program for senior citizens and low income families.
- Hold public meetings to hear your needs and concerns.
- Establish a much needed Drug Awareness Program.

Two vie for Granite 2nd Ward

GRANITE CITY — There will be a new alderman in the 2nd Ward after the April election.

There are two contenders for St. Schuman's place on the City Council: Virgil Kambarian Jr., 42, of 2636 Edison Ave. and Samuel Ronney Jr., 36, of 2640 State St. Schuman is not seeking re-election.

Kambarian is a lifelong resident of Granite City and has lived in the 2nd Ward since 1953. Currently a teacher and coach at Riverview Gardens High School in Missouri, he formerly was a teacher and coach in the Southwestern School District in Illinois and at Coolidge Jr. High School in Granite City.

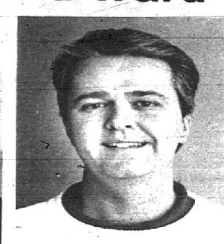

He is a former member of the United Steelworkers of America and was employed by Granite City Steel, Nesco Steel Barrel Co. and Laclede Steel Co.

Kambarian is a graduate of Granite City High School and Eastern Illinois University in Charleston. He has done graduate work at Eastern St. Louis University and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Kambarian's wife Wendy is also a teacher at Riverview and they have two children. He is a member of St. Gregory's Armenian Apostolic Church and an affiliate member of St. John's United Church of Christ. A member and past president of the Granite City Elks Lodge 1063.

Virgil Kambarian Jr.

Samuel Ronney Jr.

"As an alderman, I want to be an accessible, forceful advocate of the people," Kambarian said. "I have personally financed my entire campaign so that I will be free to serve the public and not special interests. In addition, I will strive for (an) economically efficient city government, improved city services and continued growth."

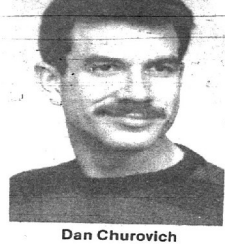

Ronney has lived in Granite City for 21 years and is a graduate of Granite City High School. He attended Belleville Area College and is a warehouseman with Teamsters Local 525 at Metro East Industrial Supply.

A member of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, he has been a volunteer for the Easter Seals Summer Camps for Children and the March of Dimes. He and his wife Pam have one child.

Ronney said that as an alderman he will be totally accessible to the residents of the ward and their needs.

"I'm proud to be a citizen of this community," Ronney said. "As an alderman I would be able to become more involved in community affairs. I would also be able to deal with the concerns of all the people of the ward. Being able to deal with their concerns, we can make this a better community in which to live."

GC 1st Ward three-way race

GRANITE CITY — First Ward incumbent Alderman Casmer Skubish, 76, of 2701 Lincoln Ave. is challenged by two lifelong Granite City residents for his place on the City Council.

Dan Churovich, 34, 2241 Washington Ave., and Joseph Swigert, 34, 1539A E. 20th St., Apt. 2, both say the time has come for a change in the 1st Ward.

Skubish, alderman since 1981, has been a resident of Granite City for 59 years. He served as an alderman in the 6th Ward in the 1960s. He and his wife Gladys raised three children.

Now retired, Skubish worked for Granite City steel and the Illinois Department of Revenue. He is a member of Holy Family Catholic Church.

Skubish said that as a retired person he is able to devote full time to the duties of alderman and will continue to be responsive to the needs of the 1st Ward and Granite City.

Churovich has been a welder with Sisco/Hilti for three years and previously worked for Granite City Steel for five years. He is a graduate of Granite City High School and Belleville Area College. He holds certificates for industrial welding, airframe maintenance and special vehicle repair.

He is a member of the VFW, American Legion and Serbian Orthodox Church. He and his wife Skubish have two children.

Churovich said he is a man of his word, has always been for unions, and understands the needs of working and non-working people equally. He asks citizens of the 1st Ward if the ward is better off today than eight years ago.

"I would like to see and be an active participant in making the 1st Ward and Granite City a better place to live," Churovich said.

Swigert lists his occupation as salesman and is a college student working toward a degree in mathematics. He served as an electronics warfare technician in the U.S. Air Force.

He is a member of the Air Force Sergeants Association, the U.S. Judo Association, the VFW and the Disciples of Divine Rights church. Swigert is single.

Swigert said it is time for someone to eliminate curfews, provide safety so people can walk down the street, and eliminate closing hours for taverns.

"I want to see a supermarket built in the Washington Theater lot in order to stimulate business and provide a convenient grocery store for area residents," Swigert said.

Calendar

A limited number of free seats will be available for Mundy performances of "Les Miserables" at the Fox Theater. Tickets will be distributed one hour before curtain time from the brass booth outside the Fox. Distribution will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday for the 2 p.m. performances, and at 6:30 p.m. Sunday only for the 7:30 p.m. performance. There will be only one ticket per person.

The Granite City Area Ministerial Alliance will sponsor a Lenten luncheon at noon Wednesday, March 22, at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 2103 Cleveland Blvd. The theme will be "It Is Finished."

Old Six Mile Historical Society will host an all-you-can-eat chili supper from noon to 6 p.m. Saturday at the Brown Recreation Center, Franklin and Amos avenues. Tickets are $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for children 10 and under. The meal includes, chili, dessert and drink.

A "gigantic" craft fair will be held March 18 and 19 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Expo Building in Lindendale Park, Highland. More than 170 tables will be offered.

Granite City Rotarians will hold their annual benefit "chili day" Tuesday, March 21, from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at Niedringhaus Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue. Tickets costing $3.50 will be available at the door. All proceeds will go to the PolioPlus fund.

Tax counseling for the elderly continues here

The American Association of Retired Persons' Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) continues to serve this area for the 15th consecutive year. The national AARP program is in its 21st year of service to elderly, low-income and handicapped citizens.

There are nine local volunteers available on Tuesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. at the Moose Hall, 19th and Benton streets. The local coordinator is Richard Nolan.

Those needing help should bring last year's return and all forms and information from this year, including their Illinois property tax receipt.

Corrections

A headline on a Page 1 article in Wednesday's edition incorrectly called the new CT scanner at St. Elizabeth Medical Center by the wrong name. The new advanced Picker 1200 scanner will replace an existing unit this April, providing quicker patient scans at a higher resolution than current equipment.

An article in Sunday's edition about property negotiations in an area around John Novotny Chevrolet incorrectly referred to that area as "directly across from" the proposed Wal-Mart site in downtown. The latter site is actually about one city block's distance.

We regret the errors.

Schools have 4 social workers in community

Gov. James R. Thompson has proclaimed March 12-18 as "School Social Work Week." School social work is one of the services the Granite City, Madison and Venice school districts jointly provide to children.

Currently, the three districts employ four social workers under the supervision of Steve Balen, director of special education. They are Nancy Mathews, ACSW, Jim DeLeonardis, Sue Borstein and Richard Speckhart.

The social workers deal primarily with children who are experiencing problems that affect their social, emotional or academic growth.

The help that they receive may take the form of direct contact with the individual child or group of children.

The social workers provide services to parents and family groups, consult with classroom teachers, and serve as a liaison between the school, families and community agencies.

In recent years, the school social workers have assumed the additional responsibility of reporting suspected abused and/or neglected children.

Lazerson: No more bubble gyms

EDWARDSVILLE — Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville President Earl Lazerson hopes he has seen the last bubble burst on his campus.

Lazerson recommended to university trustees at their March 9 board meeting that the deflated and shredded bubble gym recreational complex on the campus be replaced by a permanent structure.

"It is time this campus moved ahead with a permanent recreational structure," he said.

The Bubble Gym collapsed March 6 under the weight of 11 inches of wet snow. The snow ripped the shell in several places, said SIUE spokesman Sam Smith.

The internal air pressure that supported the balloon-like structure escaped through the tears, and the canvas shell fell on basketball standards and weight equipment inside the gym, tearing the shell more, Smith said.

The Bubble Gym was installed on the campus in 1982, Lazerson said.

"We were told at the time the gym was put up it had a seven-year lifespan, and they hit it right on the button," he said.

No details or cost of a permanent recreational complex were announced. Lazerson said the new complex would be built by activity fees students pay; no tax money would be used.

University officials will talk with student groups to get their reactions, Lazerson said.

SIUE offers six courses in music during spring

The Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer six non-credit courses in music during spring quarter.

A flute forum for flute players and instructors will meet on alternate Tuesdays from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m., beginning March 28 and continuing through May 23. The course will focus on solo repertoire expansion, honing teaching skills, reading flute choir literature and keeping up with newly published materials. Registration is $32.

Classes on the fundamentals of music theory will meet Saturdays from 2 until 4 p.m., beginning April 1 and continuing through June 10. Class content will include melody, rhythm and meter. Registration is $48.

Instruction in beginning guitar will be held Saturdays from 8:30 until 10:30 a.m., beginning April 1 and continuing through May 20. Registration is $48.

Advanced guitar will be taught Saturdays from 10:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., beginning April 1 and continuing through May 20. Registration is $48.

Piano instruction for beginning adults is scheduled Wednesdays from 7:15 to 8:45 p.m. Classes begin April 5 and continue through May 24. Registration is $45.

Advanced piano lessons will be held Thursdays from 7:15 until 8:45 p.m., beginning April 6 and continuing through May 25. Registration is $45.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE office of Continuing Education at 692-3210.

Church starts up literacy program

The New Salem Missionary Baptist Church in Venice is implementing a literacy program.

Anyone who would like to enroll in the program may call Anna Claggett, 452-3157, or the Rev. John H. Williams, 452-5124. Participation will be confidential. Claggett is the church's coordinator.

Application availability announced

Charles King, president of the Granite City Scholarship Foundation, has announced the availability of applications for 1989 GCSF grants at the Granite City High School counselors' office.

The scholarships will be granted to GCHS graduating seniors to help with their first year of college expenses.

Students will be chosen based on financial need and on their ability to succeed in a chosen college program, as determined by a screening committee.

Grants are $900 and applications for them must be postmarked prior to midnight Sunday, April 30.

Funds to support the program are contributed by business and civic organizations in the Granite City area. Last year, $15,250 was raised, resulting in 19 scholarships.

Former allies vie for Madison mayor

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

MADISON — The Madison mayoral race pits two former allies against each other. Mayor John Bellicoff is opposed by 2nd Ward Alderman Ron Grzywacz, who supported Bellicoff and worked for his election in 1983. Bellicoff, 66, hopes voters on April 4 will be impressed by his success at bringing several new businesses to Madison, businesses that are expected to open this year. He is pledging to improve on that record.

"I will continue to attract new and stable businesses to our city," he said.

He also points to his record of public service. "I started as a volunteer fireman in 1947," Bellicoff said. "I was the president of the school board (for 15 years) and I was city clerk."

Bellicoff, who is vice president of the First National Bank in Madison, is also a past president of the Southwestern Illinois Regional Planning Commission and a past chairman of the Tri-City Regional Port District.

Grzywacz, 52, who owns G & G Car Wash on Madison Avenue, has been an alderman for six years. He is a former street department employee and Madison policeman.

Grzywacz characterizes Bellicoff as a conservative mayor whose bank responsibilities prevent his devoting the necessary time to the job of mayor.

"I will be a full-time mayor," Grzywacz said. "I'll be in City Hall eight hours a day — 10 if necessary — and that's where he belongs."

Bellicoff responded by saying that former mayor Steve Macraes managed to run the city successfully from his real estate office, and he said he is in constant touch with city officials. Grzywacz countered with, "You're talking about the 1980s — times have changed. Mike Sasyk couldn't run it from his soap factory."

Grzywacz charged that Bellicoff "has brought no new businesses into the city in the last four years. Let's do something with the property out by Gateway Truck Stop, for instance."

He further said Bellicoff had "nothing to do" with bringing several new convenience stores and restaurants into town. Bellicoff countered by producing two letters from principals involved in the start-up of a Hucks convenience store and a Dubbles hamburger restaurant. Both of the letters praised Bellicoff for his role in the deals.

Bellicoff charged that Grzywacz has been conducting a misinformation telephone campaign blaming him for property reassessment and tax increases. He showed a letter from Robert Harris, Madison County supervisor of assessments, saying that the 1988 reassessments were "mandated by state statute."

As for the tax increases the last two years, Bellicoff said those were imposed to pay for liability insurance and pension funds, all mandated by state statute. Bellicoff also said Grzywacz voted for the increases.

Grzywacz responded by saying he tried to persuade the council to avoid real estate tax increases by reimposing telephone and water taxes, which he said would have raised more than $60,000 and "made renters pay their fair share."

Grzywacz said he knew a man who wanted to build a $2 million warehouse and office building on

Collinsville Avenue, but that the owner refused to build it as long as "Bellicoff kept raising property taxes."

Bellicoff responded: "The mayor doesn't raise taxes; the council does." Citing a planned expansion of Kerr-McGee's operations here, as well as the new businesses mentioned earlier, Bellicoff said, "Why are all these people expanding in Madison if taxes are a problem?"

Bellicoff also pointed to a deal he worked out in 1987 for a Texas firm to build a $39 million trash-to-energy plant in Madison that would have provided 100 jobs. He said Bellicoff fixed the deal, saying Madison "wasn't ready to take on a project like this."

Bellicoff responded by saying that if St. Louis hasn't moved to build such a plant, how could Madison do it? "I knew it wasn't financially justified when the big communities around us can't do it," he said.

During the 1970s, Grzywacz was convicted along with several other officers of taking bribes from businesses in the unincorporated area of Madison County in the early '70s, and served about a year in prison.

Bellicoff refused to bring up the matter of Grzywacz's criminal record. "I'm running on my record of 42 years of unblemished, dedicated service to the city. His (Grzywacz's) record is a matter of record."

Bellicoff responded: "People are tired of that. They beat that to death when I ran for alderman, and I won three-to-one. I have nothing to hide."

Bellicoff resides at 1017 Grand Ave. He has a wife and two daughters.

Grzywacz resides at 1206 Altan Ave. He has a wife, one son and one daughter.

Races develop in 3 of 4 wards, for city clerk

Four aldermanic seats are up for grabs in Madison, one in each of the four wards.

The most hotly contested race is in the 2nd Ward, where three men have filed. In the 4th Ward, incumbent Charles Rockett has no opposition.

First Ward: Incumbent George Amisch is opposed by Richard George.

Amisch, 52, of 1429 Seventh St. is a teacher in School District 9 in Granite City. He is a lifelong resident of this area, a Navy veteran and a former chairman of the Madison Zoning Board. He has a wife and two children.

Says Amisch: "If I am returned to office, I will continue working with the elected officials of the present city administration and the citizens to obtain the pride and trust in our community and city officials that was built up over the past four years."

George, 41, of 1620 Sixth St. is a building service mechanic with Union Electric Co. He is a lifelong resident and served in Vietnam. He has a wife and two children.

Says George: "I would like to see and help with a revitalization of the city and establish programs for our youth. I will be available to 1st Ward residents to help with any problems they might have pertaining to the city."

Second Ward: Three are vying for Richard Asperger's seat. Asperger has decided not to seek re-election. The three are Michael Antonovich Jr., Jim Caffrey and Robert Grieve.

Antonovich, 24, of 1318 Madison Ave. is the general manager of the Madison Garden Shop. He is a bachelor and a lifelong resident of this area.

Says Antonovich: "We need men who are business minded, aggressive, experienced in knowing the needs of our community and, most importantly who can and will get the job done. With employment as it is, we need to work together and help those less fortunate."

Caffrey, 41, of 1200 Altan Ave. is a truckdriver for St. Louis Slag Co. He is a veteran and a lifelong resident of the area. He has a wife and one child.

Says Caffrey: "I'm proud to see the new businesses coming into the city. I want to help Mayor Bellicoff... and keep the city from becoming another Brooklyn, Saugat or Washington Park."

Grieve, 56, of 1906 Washington Ave. is retired and previously worked at Famous-Barr and Granite City Steel. He is a Marine Corps veteran, a former treasurer of the Metro East Sanitary District. A 25-year resident of this area, he has a wife and one child.

Says Grieve: "I would like to restore fiscal responsibility and move the city forward once again. Ward Two has been neglected and I want to restore the vital services that we had prior to this administration."

Third Ward: Incumbent Mike Vrabec, who was appointed last year to fill the unexpired term of Don Wilson, is opposed by Bill Papa.

Vrabec, 30, of 1923 Harris St. is a deputy clerk in the Madison County Circuit Clerk's office. A lifelong area resident, he has a wife and one child.

Says Vrabec: "I'm knowledgeable in county and local government and know the need for financial and economic accountability. I will promote new ideas... that will bring continued growth, progress and services to our senior citizens and youth programs."

Papa, 51, of 1902 Fourth St. is retired. A 22-year member of the Madison Police Department, Papa served as chief of police for one year. A lifelong resident of this area, he is an Army veteran and has a wife and four children.

Says Papa: "I served the community for 22 years, and I wish to continue to help the community as much as I can. Whatever comes up, if it's good for my ward I'll speak out for it."

Fourth Ward: Incumbent Charles Rockett is unopposed.

Rockett, 58, of 908 Madison St. has been alderman for eight years. He is a service clerk at Spectralite Consortium Inc. He has a wife and six children.

Says Rockett: "The main issue is to be honest with the people of Ward Four and to continue to help the city officials make a better city for all the residents of Madison."

Treasurer: Incumbent Fred Bathon, 54, of 1009 Reynolds St. is also the Madison County auditor. A lifelong resident, he has a wife and one child.

Says Bathon: "I have modernized the city's entire financial accounting system and have worked to maximize the return of taxpayer dollars through efficient investments. I will continue to strive to improve the city's financial position."

City Clerk: Incumbent Bill Weidner is opposed by Gary Novich.

Weidner, 33, of 1611 Third St. is a security officer at McDonnell Douglas Corp. in St. Louis. He was a Madison policeman for 10 years. A lifelong resident of this area, he has a wife and one child.

Says Weidner: "During my four years as city clerk, the office has been modernized and computerized. All city records are now protected from destruction. Practical experience as an employee of the city has given me even more valuable insight in how to best serve all the people."

Novich, 38, of 925 Washington Ave. is a salesman for Tile Town Carpet City. He is a former Madison recreation director and a former Venice Township trustee. A lifelong area resident, he has one child.

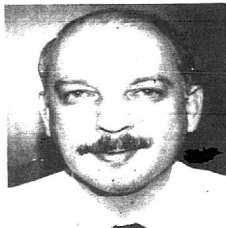

Says Novich: "I would ask the City Council to do away with the $200 per month car allowance the city clerk now receives. Over a four-year term of office, this would be an additional saving of $9,600. This money could then be used to fund senior citizens and youth activities for the people of Madison."

Taking a clue from the saints

St. Patrick has his day tomorrow, so on Monday I went to the library to see if I could find out something about him. St. Patrick was like the snake-bashing Big Brother in the comic strip "B.C." He is credited with driving the snakes out of Ireland.

They were all I could find out about St. Patrick, but I did find out some things about some less famous saints met together.

(I also found out March is a lousy time to use the library. It was full of high school students doing research for term papers. Students should have the same patron saint as journalists — St. Procrastinatus, who was martyred by infidels to whom he owed an assignment.)

There are some interesting lessons to be gained from studying the lives of the saints. For reasons which will become clear in a bit, I was fascinated by two saints in particular: St. Bertha and St. Gumbert.

They were a married couple and apparently didn't get along too well, so they split up. Gumbert went off to convert the Irish, as it happens. The Irish didn't feel like being converted, so they chopped off his head. Bertha, meanwhile, became the abbess of a convent, but some greedy nephews killed her for money and all her dough to the church.

I found the story of Bertha and Gumbert intriguing because on Sunday, after four decades-plus of bachelorhood, I proposed marriage and was accepted.

When I showed up Monday with a head cold and thought about my impending change in marital status, it occurred to me that my resistance had been down in more ways than one. I was having some second and even third thoughts.

So it was heartening to read about Bertha and Gumbert. The Irish saints they met suggest that while a marriage can be pretty bad, the alternatives may be worse.

There was also St. Leobardus, who planned to marry but chickened out and went to live in a cave, where he spent the rest of his life copying the psalms or scraps of parchment. His fiancée must have been one ugly woman.

Not all the saints were denied carnal pleasures. Blessed Louisa of Savoy, by all accounts, had very happy married life. She was, incidentally, the daughter of a king (Blessed Anne, the granddaughter of King Charles VII and the niece of Joan of Arc).

St. John of the Cross was denied carnal pleasures. Good connections improve your prospects of being canonized.

Back in the Seventies, the Roman Catholic Church demoted a bunch of saints. St. Christopher, long the patron saint of travelers, was among them. He can't help but wonder if all these people getting sucked out of airplanes lately might have survived if Christopher hadn't been demoted.

Some other very real saints have never been assigned patron jurisdiction like St. Christopher, but they should have been. Did you know that a saint started the tradition of retirement at age 65? St. Raymond of Penafort, who lived back at the time of the Crusades, headed the Order of St. Dominic. When he got tired of working, he decreed that, thereafter, leaders of the order must retire at 65. Guess how old he was? I suppose that makes him the patron saint of Social Security.

St. John of the Cross went 30 years without a drink, which I guess makes him the patron saint of Alcoholics Anonymous. His behavior strikes me as a bit excessive, but he had a personal motto, nihil excedere — "Nothing exceeds like excess."

St. Simeon Stylites the Younger, who lived on top of a pillar for 68 years, would be the patron saint of flagrant sitters. I don't know why he did this. Maybe he had a wife who couldn't climb.

You can tell I'm preoccupied with this marriage thing. The comments I've been getting don't help. A colleague remarked evilly, "There is no such thing as a marriage of convenience. All marriages are inconvenient."

So I was happy to read about St. John of the Latin Gate, who was ordered cast into a vat of boiling water by the Emperor Domitian, yet emerged unscathed. The moral of this is that anyone can get into hot water (or marriage). The big thing is getting through it unscathed.

I hope this column doesn't get me in hot water with my future bride.

Dinner theater tickets on sale

The Parent/School Association of Holy Family Catholic Church in Granite City is sponsoring an adult evening out with a dinner theater at 6 p.m. April 1.

A limited number of tickets are being sold for $10 each. The price includes a catered dinner by Jerry's Restaurant and a stage production of "Two by Two" to be performed by members of Granite City Summerstage under the direction of Lisa Fensterman. Beer and set-ups

The Scott Joint Use Citizens Committee is working toward collecting 100,000 signatures from residents on a petition that favors development of a joint-use airport facility at Scott AFB near Belleville.

"This would send a clear signal to elected officials and the Federal Aviation Administration," said Mary Kane, former executive director of the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois. The council formed the citizens' committee to better inform the public on the joint-use proposal, she said.

At the time of the interview more than 1,300 residents had signed the petition. Though no timetable has been set to gather the 100,000 signatures, Kane said the citizens' group is positive it will reach its goal.

"Just about every community leader we've spoken to is in favor of it," she said. She said the group has made so far 30 presentations via a slide show, to community, government and civic groups throughout the area in the past two months.

"The responses we're getting have been very encouraging," she said. The petition drive began in late December, Kane said. She said the slide presentation outlines the financial, environmental and military aspects of planning for the joint-use project.

Kane said a recent poll conducted by Southern Illinois University Edwardsville reflected 71 percent of residents polled in both St. Clair and Madison counties favor developing the joint-use airport. Also, the St. Clair County Board has gone on record as favoring the construction of a joint-use airport at Scott.

ARE THE ELDERLY TREATED FAIRLY?

I was paging through an old copy of Guideposts when I happened upon an article dealing with a 26 year old woman who once a week for five years put on makeup to make her look 85 years old and went around the city as an experiment on the treatment the elderly received from the public.

What she found was disturbing. She was ignored by taxi drivers when she attempted to flag down a cab. An airline ticket agent who was smiling and friendly to all the young executives who proceeded her in line was curt and abrupt with her. She was mugged and robbed by a group of teenagers and assaulted by a store clerk.

In effect, simply because she looked old, she was insulted, ignored, condescended to and physically abused. She discovered that people really do judge a book by its cover, and that most people decide not to read a book that has an old cover.

The article made me think, do we really treat our elderly like we want to be treated as the Golden Rule tells us, to do or do we treat them differently? Do we look at someone and decide that because they are no longer young they have nothing of value for us? I think a great many people do, our society tends to worship youth.

I don't mean that many people are actually physically abusive to the elderly, but sometimes condescension and being ignored can hurt more than physical abuse.

Past societies looked to their elderly for wisdom and guidance, we could take a lesson from them. Remember, the elderly are just like everyone else, except they have lived a little longer than most people.

Second Baptist to have services

Second Baptist Church, 2100 Illinois Ave., invites the public to Christ in the Passover" at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The purpose of the presentation will be to enhance the Christian understanding of the New Testament by showing a Jewish background for the Communion celebration. Ancient and modern Jewish customs will be described with an emphasis on the aspect of the redemption accomplished by Christ at Calvary.

The presentation will be given by members of "Jews for Jesus." The presentation was written in 1986 by Moishe Rosen, the founder and leader of the group. It was taken from the writings of the former rabbi, Leopold Cohn.

Holy Family sets Holy Week services

Holy Family Catholic Church, 606 Washington Ave., will observe the following schedule during Holy Week:

• Tuesday. Penance service with confessions at 7 p.m.

• Wednesday. Mass at 7 p.m. followed by confessions.

• Holy Thursday. No morning Mass; 7 p.m. Mass of the Lord's Supper followed by adoration until 10 p.m.

• Good Friday. No morning Mass. Celebration of the Lord's Passion at 12:10 p.m. and 7 p.m., with confessions from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

• Holy Saturday. March 25, noon, blessing of Easter baskets; Easter Vigil Mass at 7 p.m. (No confessions or Masses 4-4 and 5-30 p.m.)

• Easter Sunday. Masses at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

• Passover program on Palm Sunday

Steve Cohen, staff evangelist with Jews for Jesus, will present a program titled "Christ in the Passover" at Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave., on Palm Sunday, March 19, at the regular 7:45 or 10 a.m. services.

The purpose of the presentation will be to enhance the Christian understanding of the New Testament by showing the Jewish background for the Communion celebration. Ancient and modern Jewish customs will be discussed and described with an emphasis on the redemption that Christ accomplished at Calvary.

A table will be set with the traditional Jewish Passover items and symbolic foods. Members of the organization have been given the presentation at thousands of churches.

Cohen will be able to answer questions of the public.

Local woman wins trip to Disney World

The monthly Avon meeting was held in the Granite City Township Hall at 21st Street and Delmar Avenue. After the meeting was called to order by Phyllis Lester, awards were given.

Dorothy Lawrence won a four-day, three-night trip to Disney World in Florida for five, which will include her husband, Art, and other family members. Cara Nance won a money tree for her sponsorships and Donna Johnson, Kim Thilges and Kim Dixon won consolation prizes.

A demonstration was given by Mickey Strach, Elaine Staton, Chole Denny and Mary Schmitt on different ways to wear the latest styles of scarves.

Special recognition was given for new top sellers, including Sandra Hamilton and Thilges. Door prizes went to Debbie McElroy and Julie Laty.

Gold bracelets were awarded to Tammie Meyers and Shirley Ottinger for selling the most line soother in campaign four.

Workshop certificates were given to Dorothy Lawrence, Benola Bilyeu, Thilges, Hamilton and Genny Grubb.

Helen Miller and Bonnie Hunter made the Honor Society.

Barbara Jean Jones, Winnie Porter, Rosemary Halston, Johnson and Shirley Filman made President's Club and received their Mrs. Abe figurines.

Others attending were Carolyn Stamm, Alma Reynolds, Janice Watson, Maxine Green, Lillian Ruegge, JoAnne Huelkoetter, Clarine Caggin, Virginia Mancery, Roberta Brennan, Mary Nolan, Iola Voyles, Dorothy Alsop, Donna Houston, Cedelia Poliss, Sanja Jollis, Florence Michelson, Clara Winter, Dorothy Jones.

Rosa Luxi, Lou Rijewitz, Irene Hendrickson, Dawn Selayford, Jannie Scheffer, Diana Keer, Clarice Rife, Carol Gilland, Evelyn Sherman, Gerri Clark, Lois Hay, Angela Diller, Denise Wolford, Tomia Stille, Patty Miles, Kathy Chalson, Connie Clark, Vicki Reed and Ruth and Eileen Yobbo.

Local representatives belong to the Morton Grove Branch of the Gateway Division. The next meeting will be March 30 and the President's Club Banquet will be May 3. Anyone who would like to become an Avon representative should call Maxine Green, 931-6256, for further information.

Mr. and Mrs. Brett (Karen) Lane of St. Charles, Mo., entertained with a birthday dinner Sunday in their home for their son, Craig.

Those attending from Granite City were: Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bettor and children, Mike and Ashley; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lane; and Tim Lane and children, Brittany and Sean of St. Charles. After dinner, birthday cake was served and gifts were presented to Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike (Diane) Carrada and son, Michael, spent Sunday in Litchfield visiting Carrada's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carrada.

The Baptist Women of Calvary Baptist Church met last week for their monthly meeting. This month featured Home Missions. The theme was "Pray ... That They May Believe."

Nancy Hostmeyer, president, opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes were read by Edna Stagner, Treasurer. Luella Propes gave her report.

It was announced that the Missions Rally for the association will be held at First Baptist at 6:30 p.m. today (Thursday), with missionary Jack and Avah Shelby as the speakers. They are on furlough from the Orient.

Reports were given by the women on the mission action project for February, which was to take something to a shut-in for Valentine's Day. The mission action project for March is to send $60 to the Brotherhood Commission in Memphis, Tenn., to be used to send Bibles to Russia.

The business meeting was closed and the program turned over to Phyllis Knight, mission support chairman.

Knight gave the overview of the lessons and introduced those on the program. They were Stagner discussing the "new" poor; Propes discussing families; Nancy Hostmeyer discussing aging; Kay Andersen discussing multi-family housing; Dorothy Bontricht discussing a pluralistic society; Thelma Phelps discussing rural/agricultural woes; and Grace Cruse discussing "A Transient, Mobile Society." Prayer was given by each woman for those mentioned in her topic.

Tri-City Shriners install officers

Ben Livingston of Granite City was elected president of the Tri-City Shrine Club in December to lead the organization in its activities this year.

Livingston is a member of the Almad Shrine Temple, Scottish Rite Bodies, Masonic Lodge 835 in Granite City, the First Presbyterian Church, and VFW Post 1300.

In recent years, Livingston has chaired the Granite City Shrine circus parades, and the Shriners' bell ringing for the Salvation Army Tree of Lights in Granite City.

Livingston is married to the former Jeanette Stiers, and they have three sons, Terry, Gene and Dale, who reside in Granite City, and a daughter, Mary, who resides in Fort Worth, Texas.

The installation of officers was held at Sunset Hills' Country Club in Edwardsville.

Almad Temple's newly elected potentate, Orville E. Homart, of Granite City, installed Livingston, was assisted by newly appointed Outer Guard of Almad, Jack P. Taylor, serving as installing marshal.

Other officers elected and installed were: Vice President Robert Brève; Secretary E. Gene Ross; Treasurer Sid Strotheide; and Chaplain Eldon Curtright. The outgoing president of the Shrine Club was John McGee of Granite City.

Many local Shriners are active in assisting children with orthopedic problems and severe burns.

The Tri-City Shrine Club has a membership of 360 members.

Madison Lions have pancake brunch

The Madison Lions Club will hold its annual Pancake Brunch from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday (Palm Sunday) at the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh Street and Lee avenue, Madison.

Proceeds from the fund-raiser will go toward helping the visually and hearing impaired.

The Madison Lions Club is just one of many Lions Clubs within the state that works to help contribute to those less fortunate. Money received throughout the year from other fund-raisers, such as Candy Day sales and the annual shotgun raffle, go toward purchasing eyeglasses and hearing aids. Without the help of the Lions, many individuals would have to live in a world of darkness and silence, according to Lion President Travis Rash, who is urging everyone to help the Lions by participating in the fund-raiser. Last year, more than 30 pairs of eyeglasses were purchased from proceeds purchased from the Pancake Brunch.

Tickets can be purchased at the door for $4 for adults and $1.50 for children 12 and under.

The Madison Lions Club is a non-profit organization that solely depends on these fund-raisers to acquire the necessary funds to help people in the community.

If anyone is interested in joining the Madison Lions Club they should contact Lion Secretary Matt Ozanich.

They shouldn't have to resign

There's something inherently wrong with a system of government that penalizes participation in the Constitutionally-granted process of elections.

However, that's what we see in Pontoon Beach, where two trustee candidates were recently forced to resign their appointed positions as village officers.

Health Inspector Robert Douglas and Donald McNew, administrator of the Zoning Board of Appeals, resigned so they could continue seeking four-year trustee posts in the Continuing Growth Party in the April 4 election. Village attorney Keith Jensen offered a legal opinion that a person cannot become a candidate while also an employee of the village. We agree with Jensen's interpretation of the Municipal Code of Pontoon Beach. We just don't agree with that code.

Any municipal law that discourages participation in government is dubious at best. Why should a village employee or appointed officer give up a position in government simply because he chooses to run for another public office? We could see a conflict if the person is elected to a position that he could use with undue influence. But to simply express an interest in running is not the same thing.

Political activity should not automatically be construed as a detriment to governmental function. It is a privilege that our forefathers have enjoyed for many scores of years.

Attorney Jensen said the village ordinance is consistent with Public Act 84-1018, since the ordinance doesn't restrict an employee's political "activities" other than running for public office. But running for office certainly seems to be an "activity" that many other city governments now allow.

Appointed employees in home rule cities, such as Granite City, or in communities without a specific municipal code calling for appointees to resign upon becoming candidates, would not be required to resign, Jensen said.

Elected officials are not affected by the ordinance, Jensen said. Some members of the village board have stated their disagreement with the code, and we hope once the election is past, those same Pontoon officials review their code and order revisions. Penalizing appointees for seeking office is not the proper way to improve government.

Mr. Sanders goes to Washington

The top Illinois public education job continues to frustrate its occupants.

Ted Sanders was not forced out, like some of his predecessors, but he was bothered by the gap between the office's responsibility and power. This gap was a big factor in his decision to become U.S. undersecretary of education at a $45,000 cut in yearly pay ($19,000 vs. $82,500 and loss of an annual Educational Testing Service consulting fee).

Although it has been a dead-end position due to differences over school financial needs — as dramatized by the current split between Republican Gov. James Thompson and Democratic House Speaker Michael Madigan — Sanders seemed to be succeeding. He helped obtain widely acclaimed education reform laws in 1985, but much of their value has been negated by failure to fully provide the corresponding funds.

Metro East educators are mostly favorable to Sanders but note that finance is their chief headache, surpassing even drug abuse and student discipline.

Acknowledging that Illinois schools still have "an unfinished agenda," Sanders, 47, hopes to have enough influence as the head of the new education official to seek broader changes and faster remedies.

His support of school district mergers to provide greater curriculum variety for high school students was shot down when it became entangled in the 1986 governor campaign. Now that he is leaving, it may stay on the "back burner" but such a valid idea deserves further attention.

Bumpy road to car exhaust curb

London fog has diminished. St. Louis "smoke palls" of the 1930s and '40s no longer occur. Progress is being made against air pollution, even as worries increase about industrial chemicals, the ozone layer and potential world heat-wave flooding.

Metro East and Chicago motorists have been part of an auto emissions experiment since May 1986, especially along state exhaust limits intended to purify the air even though untested vehicles are free to move in and out of those metropolitan areas.

Testing is being performed efficiently in Illinois' two most populous urban areas, including stations in Pontoon Beach, Wood River and East St. Louis. In 1988, 98.7 percent of those required to obtain tests did so.

Carbon monoxide emissions were found to have decreased by 30 percent last year, compared to 1987, and hydrocarbons decreased 31 percent. Unfortunately, ozone pollution has increased in each of the past two years. Cars are less of a contributing factor, Illinois Environmental Protection Agency officials say; they blame adverse weather conditions.

Tailpipe testing authority expires Dec. 31, 1990, unless extended by the General Assembly. Although added regulation has disadvantages, we suspect a strong push will be made not only to continue the program but also expand its boundaries.

Letters

Mayor: Letter writer 'uninformed'

To the editor:

A letter appeared in your newspaper recently which pointed out a definite problem in our community. The letter by John Mangiaracino showed that, despite excellent work by your newspaper, a segment of the population is basically uninformed. I hope that this letter will set the record straight.

Four years ago, I was a strong advocate of repealing the city utility tax. When a motion was made in 1985 to bring the necessary ordinance to the Council floor, I broke a tie vote in favor of that motion. The ordinance itself was defeated by the City Council twice, but I kept my promise to the voters.

Four years ago, I did indeed pledge strong support for programs for our senior citizens. Shortly after I assumed office I appointed a senior citizen committee which has been very active, meeting on a regular basis and working to provide services to their age group.

It was in response to a survey which this committee conducted that a professional nurse was hired to handle problems common to seniors. Since the early days of my administration, we have had people at both the Township Hall and City Hall to handle problems with Medicare, Social Security, supplemental insurance claims, etc., and they have helped hundreds of our senior citizens. Mr. Mangiaracino's comments regarding lack of help for seniors is an affront to all of the people who have given so much time to this effort.

He complains of salary increases for myself and our aldermen and the addition of an administrative assistant and downtown coordinator. He obviously doesn't know that the mayor does not have power to raise his own salary or anyone else's. It is done by ordinance and voted on by the council.

Apparently he is also ignorant of Tax Increment Financing. Through this state law our economic development director has been able to garner over $220,000 from the city treasury and has given us the opportunity to generate millions more without costing the Granite City taxpayer a penny. Mr. Mangiaracino, stop by my office and I'll explain it to you.

Also, through our efforts the city has expanded its size and its tax base like never before. Today, Granite City is 25 percent larger than it was just three years ago and it has caused the city's tax rate to actually decrease, not rise, as he apparently thought.

Most of his views simply show an ignorance of the facts, but his views in the area of economic development are actually dangerous to the community.

He calls your Wal-Mart stores propaganda. Does he realize that the same information has been carried in the Belleville News Democrat and the St. Louis Business Journal? Does he realize that the developer, the Leo Eisenberg Co., third largest shopping center developer in the country, based in Kansas City and with no concern for Granite City politics, gave the News Democrat the same information that appeared in your newspaper?

But his claims regarding American Steel are really disturbing. He espouses the belief that businesses like American Steel are unaffected by local efforts, that their decisions are based purely on market demand. That the mayor can't make any difference. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

Economic development in the 1980s is an extremely competitive field. Every city, every state has similar incentives to offer businesses.

It often comes down to the interest and support shown by city officials making it known that we are genuinely concerned about their problems and will work hard not just to get their doors open but to keep them open. "Mr. Mangiaracino's laid-back attitude is what leads to plant closings, not plant openings. If he is implying that my opponent would follow such a policy it would be a severe setback for this city when we are returning to prosperity."

I have indeed held public office for over 30 years and I am proud of that fact. There is nothing more difficult than trying to balance the needs of a wide variety of people to try to serve the public good.

At this point of my life, I don't have any aspirations to higher office. I just want to make your city and mine all that it should be. Together we can make Granite City better than ever.

VON DEE CRUSE
Mayor, Granite City

'Proud of our police officers'

To the editor:

I recently had the opportunity to observe our local police in action. On a Wednesday at 8 p.m., three juveniles had just snatched a purse from a woman leaving the Pontoon Road Farm Fresh Store.

The call was dispatched over the radio. Working the "north end" that evening were Officers Kenny Crawford, Kenny Dowdy, Ned Tapp, Daryl May and Sgt. Dave Ruebhausen. Seconds after the call came in, they surrounded the area of the incident. Ruebhausen was notified that the suspects were in a red GMC pickup heading down the 2100 block of Manley.

Sgt. Ruebhausen headed off the vehicle on Manley and arrested them. The purse was found in the vehicle.

The arrest took place less than five minutes after the incident. In less than one hour, they were booked, positively identified and sent to the detention home. I was proud to witness the determination and dedication displayed by all the officers involved.

Wanted: a hiccup cure

I'm looking for a cure ... and I'm willing to pay for it.

I was assaulted last week, literally rocked by that age-old aggravator known as hiccups. For a 48-hour span, my body shook, rattled and spasmed. No cure seemed to work.

I held my breath for extended periods and turned brilliant shades of fuchsia. I drew water by the gallon and got great exercise during frequent trips to the facilities. I considered sticking a bag over my head but was afraid people would tell me to leave it.

Nothing worked. Friends passed along various cures. "Drinking water's fine," said one sage of wisdom. "But try it with sugar." That didn't work, so I thought about bourbon. Then I priced bourbon.

People at work tried scary faces — some didn't have to try too hard. While they left me with memories for years to come, I still had the hiccups. (The one thing I did learn, however, was to peek cautiously around doorways in the weeks ahead.)

I also tried willpower, just daring the next one to strike. Hiccups, however, are true soldiers on the field of battle; they don't back down in the face of a threat. They start somewhere in the pit of the stomach and force their way up and out, expelling themselves in tiny victorious squeaks. And each time they do, somebody new stares, then grins.

I cursed, fretted and fumed. I swore off every vice in exchange for a simple five-minute rest. Still, they continued, as incessant as time itself.

Finally, just when there seemed to be no end, they ceased. As quietly as they entered my life, "the hics" also left.

Unfortunately, also missing was the cure. I wasn't paying attention when they exited, so I couldn't tell what prompted the exit. Something on my agenda provided the fix to an ailment that had occupied me for hours. And suddenly that fix was, er, gone with the wind.

Frankly, I need a remedy for the future. If you have one, I'd love to hear what it is. Maybe some other readers could benefit. I'll serve as journalistic guinea pig, because you can never tell when the siege will begin.

Endorsements next two Thursdays

Candidates for public office can expect to see Press-Record/Journal endorsements in the issues of Thursday, March 23 and 30.

The endorsements will be based on answers to questionnaires, personal interviews, experience, performance in forums and other knowledge of the candidate.

Readers react

What should be done to alleviate crossing problem?

What should be done to control or eliminate the problems connected with pedestrians crossing traffic around the Granite City High School perimeter, especially along Nameoki Road where many accidents, including at least one fatality, have occurred?

Arline White, Granite City

"I think they're doing all they can do, especially with the crossing lights and signs. I've seen several (people) jump out (into traffic) there. I drive slower than the speed limit and watch out for them. Drivers should use more caution around there."

Pat Hale, Granite City

"Make them (the students) go by the laws. Drivers have to go by the laws; the kids should, too. The ones who don't, they should make them do something like clean up the town or make the parents pay the fines."

Charlotte Earheart, Granite City

"I think they should put an overpass (elevated pedestrian crosswalk) over Nameoki Road. There's been too many accidents out there. Even if we have to pay, anything to save lives."

Super Print installs new press; in cooperative training program

Super Print, 2011 State St., owned by Gary and Jan Schneider, is completing the installation this week of a new computerized, two-color printing press, which was delivered Friday.

The new state-of-the-art press has the capability of printing two colors, numbering and perforating the paper in one pass through the unit.

Purchase of the Ryobi 500N-NP press from Payer Printing Machine Works in St. Louis was made possible by a cooperative agreement between Super Print, the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services and Mental Health Services of Southern Madison County at State Street and Niedringhaus Avenue.

"We are very pleased to add this versatile and highly efficient press to our production line, as well as to help rehabilitated persons learn skills which will allow them to become contributing members of the labor force," Gary Schneider said.

The press will be used part-time to help train rehabilitated persons from the mental health program to learn the art of printing and regain the work force.

The cooperative program between Mental Health Services and Super Print will focus on the production of blank, pre-numbered and pre-perforated prize and dance tickets, which will be sold to other printers in the metropolitan area who do not have numbering capabilities.

The remainder of the time, the press will be used by the regular Super Print staff to print brochures, advertising books, invoices and other commercial jobs for the public.

"We anticipate the new press will give us new capabilities to do numbering and perforating jobs faster than ever before, as well as increasing our capabilities to do high quality two-color printing," Gary Schneider said.

Bob Jackson joins Novotny

GRANITE CITY — The new service manager at Novotny Chevrolet, 1511 Niedringhaus Ave., brings nearly 21 years experience in automotive service and management to the business.

Bob Jackson came to Novotny from Randy Blount Chevrolet, where he was service manager for two years, Jan. 24. Previously, Jackson worked for the National Auto Parts Association and spent four years as a regional service manager with the Oldsmobile Division, General Motors.

Jackson is a graduate of Bailey Technical School and the General Motors College of Auto Service Management. A certified diesel auto mechanic, he is certified by the National Institute of Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), Washington D.C., in engine repair, automatic transmissions, manual transmissions, rear axle and front end, brakes, electrical systems, heating and air conditioning and engine tune-up. He was the 1984 NAPA/ASE Technician of the Year.

"We are very happy to have Bob join us," Jim Sansone, Novotny general manager, said. "Because of his experience and background we feel he is a real plus to our customers as well as the dealership. Bob is very customer conscious."

Jackson and his wife Kathleen have two children, Angela and Kurt.

DONATES SCIENCE TAPES: Nestle Foods and its local factory in Granite City is donating a series of science tapes to the Granite City schools. The tapes will cover a variety of current science topics. The most recent tape deals with engineering and robotics. New scientific advances in the world of micro-electronics are said to have enabled the robotics industry to take off in new directions. Robots have become more flexible, more precise and are the thriving work force in automation/manufacturing, a Nestle's official said. Robots can work 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and often in extremely hazardous conditions. Robotic work stations are helping change the lives of many, especially disabled workers. With the use of a mouthstick and specially configured computer, persons with severe handicaps can perform everyday tasks such as requesting and retrieving files. The use of robotics is also employed in areas considered too hazardous for humans.

Real estate classes set

Real estate classes will be conducted for five consecutive Saturdays at the Villa Rose Retirement Center Conference Room on Moreland Road in Bethalto, starting April 15, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The $150 fee will cover all books and materials. Instructor will be Bob Lowrance, certified and approved by the Illinois Department of Professional Regulation.

For more information, call Lowrance at 466-0022 or 377-0226.

Realtors attend national meeting

John Blasingame, broker, and Laura Dix, sales associate of Coldwell Banker Star Realtors, 3701-D Namecki Road, attended the sixth annual national sales conference of Coldwell Banker Residential Affiliates Inc. in Orlando, Fla., in February.

Nearly 3,000 real estate brokers, sales associates, and guests from 50 states gathered for the four-day "Being the Best" conference to share the latest developments in the industry and to interact with top professionals in the field.

BPW plans fund raiser card party

At a board meeting of the Granite City Business and Professional Women at Jerry's Cafeteria on March 8, plans were finalized for a "Cards n' Cakes" party to be held Sunday, April 2, at the Eagles' newly renovated facility on Madison Avenue.

Proceeds from the card party are to benefit the BPW organization's local scholarship fund and administrative expenses.

For a donation of $5 per person, card games, table prizes and other prizes have been planned and refreshments will be available.

For further information or for tickets, persons may contact Becky Slate at 452-5391 or Ruth Gabriel at 451-6914.

IP cites 1988 bad, good

DECATUR — The year 1988 brought new lows and familiar highs for Illinois Power, the company said in its annual report released last week.

The company had an unsatisfactory year financially, and no improvement will occur until "an adequate electric rate increase" is granted to cover the costs of the Clinton Power Station, it was asserted.

But the company said its 1988 operations were outstanding.

"Our earnings suffered in 1988 primarily because more than $2.3 billion of Clinton's costs have not been included in our rates," said Chairman and President Wendell J. Kelley in his letter to stockholders.

Earnings declined to $2.14 per common share in 1988, compared to $3.75 in 1987.

The negative impact on earnings will continue until we get a final order from the (Illinois Commerce) Commission later in the year," Kelley said. "Future dividend decisions will depend on how our investment in Clinton is treated."

To meet the demands of industry forces in the face of uncertain financial relief, Illinois Power will continue its emphasis on controlling costs and expanding markets through its economic development program.

As part of its ongoing program to control costs, the company froze hiring in the fall of 1988 and anticipates some reduction in force during the second quarter of 1989.

Because of 27 new industrial locations and 36 expansions, 4,328 jobs were created in Illinois Power's service territory in 1988. New sales of electricity and gas also increased significantly.

Operations in 1988 were "outstanding," and the company intends to keep them that way.

Customers set new peaks for electric demand four times during the summer, finally reaching 3,775,000 kilowatts on Aug. 16.

GC Steel salutes red, white, blue

The Granite City Division of National Steel Corporation has completed a $38 million rebuild of one of its two ironmaking blast furnaces.

"This significant expenditure shows the company's commitment to its customers and employees," said company spokesman Ben Johanson. "It also shows the confidence National Steel has in its Granite City Division and the future of steelmaking in the U.S.A.

"As a tribute to the country which makes it all possible, Granite City management chose to paint the blast furnace stoves red, white and blue."

The idea was originated by Greg Menke, manager of Blast Furnace Operations, and was supported by Ken Leonard, director-ironmaking and Bill Swanson, vice president and general manager.

"The stoves, which are 25 feet in diameter and 104 feet tall, are visible from miles away on a clear day," Johannpeter said. "They also make quite a landmark to the air travelers who fly over the steel mill on their way to and from Lambert Field."

"Granite City Steel's management says that the stoves are a tribute to the United States, the steel industry and the efforts of its 3,500 employees."

Coal gasification proves uneconomical, Wood River demonstration plant sits idle

By Roger McGrath
Staff affiliate

The Klingsas coal-gasification demonstration plant in Wood River sits idle, the victim of a money crunch that has shaved employment from 300 to a half-dozen.

The first punch for the plant, which began operation in 1983, came when funding by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) expired in 1987, says Barry Johnson, president of the Klingsas project. Then Allis-Chalmers, the plant's owner, fell on hard times financially.

"We've proven the technology's feasibility; the technology has demonstrated itself," he says.

The coal-gasification technology removes much of the sulphur content from Illinois coal.

While demand for Illinois coal is hurt because pollution laws require that sulphur emissions be controlled, a ton of Illinois coal has more heat-generating capacity than most low-sulphur coal, industry sources say.

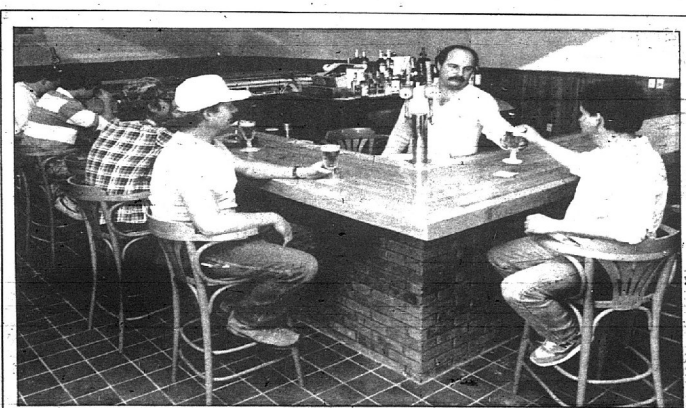

Unfortunately, coal gasification is expensive, Johnson says the fuel is only competitive with oil prices are about $23 a barrel.

"That's the problem with coal gasification technologies," says John Grassner, of the National Coal Association. "They're not economic with (today's) $12 to $15 (per barrel) oil."

Prospects for future DOE funding of Klingsas, which was backed by the State of Illinois and 12 utilities, including Illinois Power, are slim.

Of 54 "clean-coal" projects that sought federal energy funds last year, only 13 won grants, a department spokesman says.

Letters

Granite alderman rebuts pastor's letter

To the editor:

This is in response to a letter written to me by the Rev. Dale Edwards and published in the Press-Record/Journal on Dec. 29, 1988.

In the previously mentioned letter I was chastised for comments I had allegedly made during a Granite City Council meeting while asking for a comprehensive street, sidewalk and curb repair program and for a monthly report from the Street Department.

During my request to the Superintendent of Streets, I mentioned the sidewalk project at Madison Avenue and 24th Street. Due to my comments, the Rev. Edwards accused me of opposing the project and leaving connotations of dishonesty. Directed toward the church and using the citizens of the ward as expendables for my own prejudice and design.

After receiving a copy of the letter, I attempted to contact the Rev. Edwards. However, he was not in nor did he return my call. I had wished to discuss the contents of the letter, however, I could not and it was published prior to any discussion with the pastor. It is my understanding that Mayor Cruse also attempted to contact the Rev. Edwards on Dec. 29 and 30.

Additional actions were taken to rectify the situation. On Jan. 3, 1989, the Mayor, in my presence, called the Rev. Edwards and asked two questions. First, "Did you write the letters?" and second, "Did you see the council meeting?" Rev. Edwards stated that he did write the letters, however, he did not attend nor see the meeting.

Rev. Edwards stated that, he had written the letter because people he had confidence in had told him the things he had written about.

During the conversation, Rev. Edwards was invited to view a copy of the council meeting. An appointment was then made for a meeting on Jan. 11 and at that meeting Rev. Edwards stated that he had been told by an unnamed person that the alderman of the ward had opposed a previous church project of a drive-under canopy through the alley. Further conversation revealed that the Reverend still had not viewed the tapes due to his busy schedule at that time. I later delivered copies of the tapes to Rev. Edwards for him to view at his convenience. I also began to search previous council meeting minutes and ordinances to find who had opposed the drive-under canopy project. I learned through my investigation that at the time of the project, I was not an alderman and that the alderman of the ward, had placed the ordinance before the council for vote. The other alderman for the ward was absent that evening. The canopy project passed the council with no dissenting votes. I could find no evidence of any alderman being against the project.

Six days after delivery of the tapes to Rev. Edwards, I again contacted him to give him the information on the project. During that conversation, I asked Rev. Edwards if he had viewed the tapes — he still had not.

To this date, I do not know if the Rev. Edwards has viewed the tapes, nor has he made any attempt to clarify why he wrote the letter on hearsay. I feel too much time has elapsed and that I should offer an explanation to the congregation of First Assembly and to those who read the letter published by the Press-Record/Journal.

I believe that the congregation needs to know that the mayor, aldermen and several other persons, including myself, viewed the tapes and nowhere during the council meeting did I do the things or say the things I was accused of.

I state I was not and am still not opposed to the project at Madison Avenue and 24th Street, nor to a project at Madison Avenue and 24th Street. I am happy for any work being done in the Third Ward and I was not critical of your church for any political wrong doing. I have many fine friends who attend First Assembly and I understand the value and contribution to the community the members of the church have made over the years.

I have been an alderman for 10 years, and I am sure I have not always pleased everyone, but I have tried to do the right things. I believe Rev. Edwards to be a good and sincere man who acted on what he believed to have been good counsel when he wrote the letters. I also believed him to have been under much stress and extremely busy and unable to attend to the matter of the tapes as soon as I would have liked, and believe that he would not wish to express himself before viewing the tapes. I do believe that sufficient time has passed and that I did need to explain my side of the matter.

Therefore, I offer to any person the opportunity to view the tapes of the council meeting and to judge for yourselves what transpired during the meeting of Dec. 29, 1988.

Thank you for your interest and consideration.
PAUL L. FISK
Alderman, Third Ward

Grzywacz writes letter to 'set record straight'

To the editor:

I would like to set the facts straight about all the remarks that are being made about me by (Madison Mayor John) Bellcoff's "appointed" officials. I know that they have to do what John tells them to do, because he is their boss.

In our Sunday paper of March 12, you are giving me a lot of publicity about the Grzywacz ordinance. Let's be fair. The resolution reads that I had information of lewd behavior in local taverns. I did not bring this issue up, Mr. Bellcoff did. Only because he said it was coming from a tavern owned by a supporter of mine in the mayoral election.

I made a clear statement at the council meeting four weeks ago that I was not the chief of police and it was his job, not mine, to know what has been going on in the taverns for the last four years.

I do not get paid $34,000 a year to investigate what is going on in town. He (the chief) does. But at that meeting I did tell everyone in the room, including four ministers at different churches, that I did in fact have people tell me that lewd dancing was going on in several places and I did in fact tell everyone about the night that one of Mr. Bellcoff's appointed officials and good personal friend did have a young girl take her clothes off and dance to his juke box.

Now everybody that was at the meeting heard what I said to the audience but nothing was in the paper about it. Why?

The reporter heard what I said that night. Also, about the lady that stripped in front of a lot of customers at another tavern. Mr. Chief of Police was at this council meeting. He heard every word I said. Let's all tell the truth. Not just what sounds good to the people reading the paper.

What I said at that council meeting is a matter of record and the chief was there. Why tell the people I did not tell him anything?

He has an outside agency investigating the taverns in town. Why? What is going on in our town? As an alderman and a representative of the citizens of Madison I want to know, or is it a secret? Or is it because these other two tavern owners are backing Mr. Bellcoff and you don't want the citizens to know about his following?

As for Mr. Amisch, he needs to get out and check with some of these taverns or the patrons and he would know what's happening in his town. You just can't find out what is going on in town when you only come to a council meeting every two weeks.

Mr. Amisch, you said in the paper that you brought up the resolution because of your being upset about my "If you don't know, I ain't going to tell you attitude." Well, when I ran for alderman and won, I told the people of my ward that I wanted a hands-off policy concerning the police department. I will not stick my nose in their affairs.

They are all good police officers and I said to all of my voters then and I'll say it again, it's their job to uphold the laws. When I was a police officer, if someone took their clothes off in a public place, we arrested them for indecent exposure and disorderly conduct.

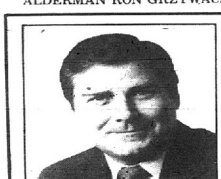

The laws have not changed. They are still on the books. Mr. Bricker knows they are present, but now it is election time. We need one (a law) that people will read about in the paper.

After Mr. Bellcoff reads this letter, I think he should agree to a debate with me that I have been trying to have with him for the last six weeks and he keeps refusing me.

Those are facts. Just ask KSTL-690 and WGNM. I have had both stations contact me. We need to talk about the real issues in Madison. There are some mayoral things he needs to be doing and talking about instead of just the taverns.

ALDERMAN RON GRZYWACZ

Isaiah 40:11... "He shall feed his flock like a shepherd, he shall gather the lambs with his arms, and carry them in his bosom..."

Our Savior is called by many names throughout His word, but perhaps the most pleasant to contemplate is the name, "The Good Shepherd." It is He of whom these words are spoken. It is He who feeds and cares for the flock. It is He who gathers His lambs lovingly in His arms and carries them safely in His bosom.

He carries them... sometimes by keeping us from trials and testing. At times, by giving us just the right amount of faith that we need to stand.

In His bosom... O what love, what tenderness, what a place of safety... In His bosom. None can reach us without first reaching Him. It is a place of perfect safety.

Are you there? In His bosom, under His care? He wants you there. He wants you there, today.

What should people do when they receive their first speeding ticket? Most people realize that if a driver is convicted of three moving violations within a one-year period of time, that person's driving privileges will be suspended. Should a person consult with an attorney, however, when he is cited for his first moving violation?

The answer to this question depends upon the likelihood of being charged with other moving violations within the next twelve months and also upon the driver's ability to pay attorney's fees to seek representation. The driver who is cited for his first moving violation has the option of pleading guilty and paying a small fine, going to court alone and attempting to plea bargain, or retaining an attorney to plea bargain on his behalf. Some would say that a person really does not have a problem until he is facing his third moving violation.

One must realize, however, that the driver who is convicted of his first moving violation may be cited the next day for two or three additional moving violations arising out of another incident. In addition, there is also the potential of being arrested out of state and not having the opportunity to appear in Court due to the distance involved. Thus what may seem like a minor problem when the person receives his first moving violation may turn into a major problem if additional moving violations appear on the record within a twelve-month period.

It may be wise for a driver to seek court supervision even if it is his first moving violation. If a person obtains court supervision, this means that no conviction appears on his record and it is not considered a moving violation. Often one must weigh the advantages of keeping his driving record clear against the disadvantage of paying money to be represented in these matters.

In one recent case, a driver was cited for improper lane usage. Since this was his first ticket, he paid the fine, and a moving violation appeared on his record. Three months later, he was involved in an automobile accident and was convicted on a charge of running a stop sign. He then had to drive for an eight-month period without obtaining another moving violation on his record. It is evident that even a first violation should be taken seriously, since unforeseen problems may develop in the future.

Editors can do no wrong with English language

Language is always a topic of interest around newspapers, because that's the principal way we communicate with readers.

The subject came to mind when we noted a new Gallup poll showing that most English churchgoers prefer modern translations of the Bible.

"They want to read that shepherds awaiting Christ's birth no longer 'abided in the fields' but lived there."

FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY should be "faith, hope and love," we are told.

I have mixed feelings about the new translations, since there are many classic verses and phrases in the King James Version.

But there is much to be said for altering the wording in line with prevailing usage, so that the public can continue to read and understand the Scripture.

AMONG NON-BIBLICAL books, Geoffrey Chaucer's 14th-century writings are no longer easy to comprehend.

William Shakespeare's 16th-century plays are still presented in their original form at Stratford-on-Avon, where I had an opportunity to attend "Henry IV" in October.

But it was only through skilled and forceful performances by the actors that I was able to absorb most of the meaning.

NEWSPAPERS can do no

Regional Roundup

wrong, under our Constitution and Bill of Rights, because nobody can dictate to an editor how words should be used or spelled.

The late Colonel McCormick, editor-publisher of the Chicago Tribune, used to enforce such spellings as thoro for thorough and thru for through, supposedly to save time and space and paper and ink.

Most newspapers, including the Press-Record/Journal, take a more moderate approach to English, ignoring the King's English, or the Americanized version of most words. After all, we did win the war a couple of centuries ago, didn't we?

THERE ARE TWO main reasons why a newspaper tries to adhere to a particular style. The goal is precision of expression, not putting on airs or following the latest language fad.

1. Words do have exact definitions and ought not to be used in a confusing way. Presently misleads if it is interchanged for currently or at present. Presently isn't now; it means soon or in the near future.

2. Some words have several variations that are equally correct. But they need to be used consistently, so that a familiar pattern emerges. If readers see continually differing usage, they probably become disturbed with the inconsistency, at least subconsciously.

UNIFORMITY PROMOTES reading ease, language experts believe, but they acknowledge that no single set of rules could possibly please everyone.

You don't have to look beyond the first entry in our stylebook to get an argument started:

Use the article a before consonant sounds — a historic event, a one-year term, a united stand. Use an before vowel sounds — an energy crisis, an honorable man, an NBA record, an 1890s celebration.

Prefixed, abbreviated, capitalized, addresses, hyphens, commas, standard use vs. special cases.... There are so many that it's amazing a stylebook ever was completed and published.

AN I EXAGGERATING the complexity? Not really. Just consider two short words, all and time.

You can refer to an all-time high but you might rate Florence Griffith-Joyner as the greatest runner of all time. And if we talked about an all-time record we'd be wrong, because that's redundant.

Some Granite Citizens still recall the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, forerunner of the United Steelworkers. But the AAISTW is nowhere to be found in most current reference books.

THE PASSING YEARS have taken their toll, not only with language but with organizations. The local association has almost disappeared from the modern generation's memory, but our stylebook does include the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union.

Old-timers like myself try to adapt to the changing times but admittedly have a few pet peeves about language changes — changes that they feel may not stand the test of time.

Hopefully is an example. Many use it, but technically it's too vague about who is doing the hoping. Hopefully (oops), I'll never be caught using it.

Group may study reports on workers' compensation

An Illinois Senate resolution newly introduced would appoint a bipartisan Senate Study Group on Workers' Compensation to consider various reports and recommendations expected this spring on the issue.

The resolution, sponsored by Senate President Phil Rock, provides for an 11-member committee chaired by Sen. Denny Jacobs, D-East Moline, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee.

The Study Group would conduct at least four hearings to consider a variety of issues related to the state's workers' compensation system including: the functions and operation of the Industrial Commission; a review of the 1988 studies, concluded or initiated; and the competitive environment of the insurance industry regarding workers' compensation.

Rocky & Bullwinkle make video market

That irreverent cartoon series "The Bullwinkle Show" used to make the guys in NBC-TV's Standards and Practices Office reach for the acid tablets. Once, back in the 1960s, a network official screened a segment in which Rocky and Bullwinkle find themselves trapped in a giant pot while Sam the Native prepares to boil and eat them. The irate censor phoned creator Jay Ward, screaming: "You can't do that — it's cannibalism!"

Ward replied: "With a mouse and a squirrel!" NBC backed off and the episode aired intact.

Now, after 20 years of infrequent sightings, Rocky and Bullwinkle are back on home video. Disney has snapped up the rights to 300 episodes and hopes to have some of this great wacky fare recolorized and ready by Christmas.

This "Bullwinkle" news is just one of the recent kidvid programming announcements worth noting. There also are "McTreasure Island," new plans from Jan and Stan Berenstein Bear and price reductions on Professor Cosby. Then there's a

Home Video

By Richard Zacks

gee-whiz hardware announcement: an interactive VCR system for kids.

"McTreasure Island," no this isn't a bad dream or a "Saturday Night Live" skit. It's true. There will be a video production by that name released this fall. Ronald McDonald will star, of course, in this adaptation of the Robert Louis Stevenson tale.

Wondering how Ronald will cope with death and violence? Don't. "We haven't altered the story, but we've highlighted the idea of treasure, adventure and chase scenes," explained Nancy Steingard, vice president at Hi-Tops Video, which will co-produce the tape with McDonald's.

Moving over to Bear country, Jan and Stan Berenstein, who sold 15 million Berenstein Bear books in 1988, plan to create original home videos based on their popular "First Time" series. The Berensteins said they especially look forward to adapting their book "Too Much TV." Before they do that, Random House video will release three more cassettes from their 1988-89 CBS Saturday morning series: "Berenstein Bears and Too Much Birthday," "In the Dark" and "Trouble with Friends" (30 mins., $14.95 each).

Each of these teach a lesson told through a gentle sitcom. The grandparently pair also is aiming to start production this year on their first feature-length film if Stan can find time to write the script.

In another pro-social kidvid development with teacher Bill Cosby just became cheaper. Four volumes of "Bill Cosby's Picture Pages" (30 mins., Front Row Video), tight, easy-to-swallow lessons on "Animals," "Numbers," "Shapes & Colors" and "Words and Letters," are available for $9.95 each, reduced from $19.95.

On the high-tech front, View-Master plans to release Interactive-Vision, a system that hooks into a VCR and allows kids to play with and learn from characters on their television screen such as Kermit the Frog, Big Bird and Mickey Mouse.

By using a minicomputer and specially designed videotapes, Interactive-Vision delivers quizzes, games, even simple plot choices all worked into the context of animated video vignettes. In "You Be the Director," kids actually select the wardrobe for Cleopatra, choosing among lovely dangling carrots, pearls and dice for her earrings. Those opting for dice will see Cleo don them and hear her say: "Oh wow, we're taking a gamble here."

In a Fozzie Bear sequence, kids can decide whether the Bear should be funny or flop. If funny, you hear the audience laughing; otherwise, you hear hecklers shouting "Get another job."

There is a rub, however: expensive equipment. The console and the joystick will cost about $125, and the cassettes, eventually nine titles of Muppets, Disney and "Sesame Street" will sell for about $25 each. National launch is pegged for early fall.

Best Bets: "Imagine: John Lennon" (1988, Warner, $89.98).

Tigers going to state again

By Curtis Duncan Jr.

CARBONDALE — The East St. Louis Lincoln Tigers and the Mt. Vernon Rams came into Tuesday's Class AA Super-Sectional at the SIU-Carbondale Arena with the number three on their minds.

The Tigers were seeking their third consecutive Class AA state championship while the Rams were looking to knock off the Tigers with their three-point shooting offense. Lincoln drove home their point with a little more authority, coming away with a hard fought 56-47 victory over the Rams before 5,700 fans. The Tigers are going to state for the fifth time in the decade.

after beating the Rams for the second time this year. Lincoln (26-4) will meet Aurora East at 1:45 p.m. Friday in the quarterfinals at the Assembly Hall in Champaign.

"Trying to win three in a row is what we've been dreaming about all season," Lincoln guard Vincent Jackson said. "If we lost, we knew people would think it was because we didn't have LaPhonso Ellis."

Defense gave the Tigers the edge down the stretch as Lincoln put on a tight 3-2 zone that held the Rams to just six points in the fourth quarter.

"We played harder defense in the second half and we wanted it a little more near the end than they did," said Tiger forward Cuozzo Martin, who along with Jackson led the Tigers with 16 points.

PUMPING UP: Members of the Warrior football team have been working hard in the weight room since shortly after last season ended. In front with the trophies they

Gridders hit weights to forget bad memories

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Even now, with the spring sports about to start, there is a determined group of athletes at Granite City High School with autumn in mind.

The autumn of 1988 was filled with frustration and embarrassment for this group and they're determined to make the fall of 1989 memorable for much happier reasons.

Since early December, returning members of the Warrior football team have been getting together twice a week in the two weight rooms adjacent to Memorial Gym. They've been hitting the weights hard in an effort to condition themselves for a shot at redemption.

The figure that stands out in their minds is the 9 record the gridders recorded in 1988. Four of those losses were due to the infamous teachers strike. The four on-field losses that followed were inevitable by-products of the resulting four-week layoff.

Most of the teams we played had mostly seniors and they were so far ahead of us," said tackle Eric Lane, one of a large group of seniors-to-be participating in the workouts. "It was like the beginning of the season for us those last few games."

"Some of us have memberships at the local clubs, so we can get a lot of work in there, too," said end-linebacker Joe Thomas of the weight training. "The key for us is to stay together. Just about the whole interior line was made up of juniors last year. And just about the whole group here is linemen because the backs are going out for track."

It's a determined group which has been going at it since December and will resume heavy workouts after the Easter holiday. All the hard work has built some solid confidence.

"We can have a 1989-type team if we can develop some quickness on the line," said Larry Hahn, referring to the Warrior team that won the Southwestern Conference and made it to the playoffs, ending East St. Louis' 44-game winning streak in the process with that unforgettable 17-14 win. "We've been lifting harder this off-season because of what happened to us last year."

"We get here and we stay until we've got all our lifting in," said Frank Vivod. "Our seniors last year really pushed us, so now it's our turn to do it." There are hardly any good memories out of the last 1988 season, but the last game was room for some optimism, even though the 40-7 final score at Belleville East doesn't look good on paper.

Rainey gets patent on Moss Dawg lure

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Many might not think Jack Rainey's invention ranks in importance with the invention of the light bulb. But don't tell that to a bass fisherman.

Rainey, 49, of Granite City, received U.S. Patent #4,782,618 on Nov. 8. That means he has been officially credited with the invention of Moss Dawg I, a revolutionary lure which has proven to be quite successful for bass fishing.

Rainey has been working on developing and refining the lure for several years and now has the patent on it until Nov. 8, 2005.

"Coming up with the idea is the easy part," said Rainey, who works for Shell. "The hard part is marketing and selling the product. Until there is a high demand for it, most shops won't call us to tell us they need more."

The key features of the lure are two retractable stainless steel hooks which pop out of the back to land their prey. And Rainey's invention is known for its ability to go into any kind of water and come out unscathed.

"I had a guy call me from Florida who wanted to know if it would work in pepper grass," said Rainey. "Well, I wouldn't know pepper grass if I fell in it. But I told him I was sure it would work. I sent him four and he said they were wonderful."

Rainey's lure, of which about 20,000 have been sold (one retail for approximately $4), has reached as far as Canada, Alaska, Massachusetts and Florida.

"This guy in Florida has a friend entering a tournament this week," Rainey said. "He gave him the Moss Dawg and told him that was his secret weapon. I hope he wins, because that will really help make it better known."

Rainey said he has "kept my head above water" financially since beginning work on the project.

"Every dime we make on it goes right back into advertising and improving on the product and packaging," he said. Rainey has reached an agreement with John Novotny Truck Center in Granite City to offer a free Moss Dawg to everyone who comes in for a test drive.

"It has turned into a terrific sales effort for them," he said. "They took 10 dozen of them. I told my wife that there must be someplace locally that could use the Moss Dawg for something like that. Joe Ferraro of Novotny is an avid bass fisherman and he was very interested."

Most of Rainey's success in selling the lure comes at sports shows. He said more than 700 were sold at the sports show at the Cervantes Convention Center in St. Louis last month.

"They were going so well that we were literally putting more together right behind the booth so we wouldn't run out," he said. "I always tell people to let me know how they do with them, but I usually don't hear that much. I hear most of it at sports shows. One guy I met had bought one of the very first ones we produced, and it wasn't one of our best. But he said he wouldn't take anything for it."

And the word is spreading. Rainey's son, Jack Jr., was stationed in Fairbanks, Alaska, with the Army when he lost his class ring from Granite City. North. Rainey got a call a year later from a man who had found the ring, so Rainey mentioned his lure.

"It turns out the guy was a retired school teacher who was going back to school to get a degree in journalism," Rainey said. "So I guess he's going to do a story on it."

Now that he has his patent, Rainey has 17 years of exclusivity.

But he's still not satisfied. He's working on a smaller model with only one hook. The lure is presently available in eight colors with swirl designs available.

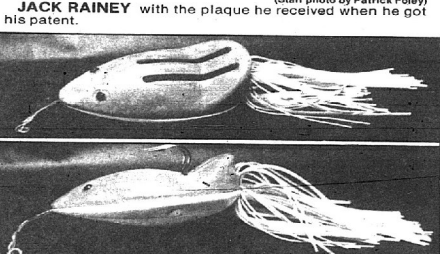

"With the patent, we're in position to do business with some big company that wants to market it," he said. "But I won't do that unless the right price came up."

"Someone caught a 10½-pound pike in Canada and we have heard about lots of large bullfrogs being caught. Overall, it's going pretty well."

At that's one fish story you have to believe.

SIUE Cougars begin post-season play tonight

The SIUE Cougars take a 22-6 record and the No. 12 ranking in the NCAA Division II poll into tonight's first-round game of the Great Lakes Regional against Kentucky Wesleyan (22-6) in Owensboro, Ky.

The winner of the 5:30 p.m. game will meet the winner of the 7:30 p.m. game pitting the nation's top-ranked Division II team, Ferris State (24-4), against Bellarmine (21-7) on Friday for the regional championship. The regional winner will join seven other regional champions in the national tournament in Springfield, Mass., on March 23-25.

The Cougars defeated Wesleyan twice this season — 88-77 at SIUE on Jan. 14 and 80-78 in Owensboro Feb. 16. Wesleyan is ranked 17th in the country.

SIUE is in post-season play for the third time in four years. In 1986 and 1987, the Cougars won in the first round, but lost the regional title game. Senior Odel Tidwell, a 6-6 forward, leads the Cougars with 16.9 points per game. Others averaging in double figures are 6-5 junior guard Tim Brown (14.6), 6-4 senior guard Frankie Williams (11.1) and 6-5 senior forward Edgar Wilson (10.9). The Cougars enter regional play on a six-game winning streak.

Larry Graham, the former Madison High School coach, has a 94-50 record in five seasons at SIUE. His overall collegiate mark, including stints at Park College and the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, is 149-74.

Cavaness gets top SWC honor

Lady Warrior center Jennifer Cavaness was named to the All-Southwestern Conference first team.

The 6-2 Cavaness joins four seniors on the first team, which was announced late last week after voting by conference coaches. She scored 496 points (21.6 per game) and averaged 12.8 rebounds in leading Granite City (10-13) to its first-ever girls regional title. Cavaness also averaged 3.0 steals and 2.8 blocked shots per game. She had a season-high 40 points at Alton on Jan. 10 and averaged 23 points in post-season play. She averaged 22.5 points and 12.7 rebounds in conference play.

Cavaness was third in the area in both scoring and rebounding behind Columbia's April Ingram and Belleville East's Reflye Williams, both seniors. Williams (23.4 points, 13.9 rebounds) was a first-team selection along with senior Lancaster teammate Lisa Korte (14.2 points, 10.0 rebounds). Also on the first team were East St. Louis senior center Kim Gresham (20.0 points, 5.0 rebounds) and Belleville West senior Jodie Prindable (8.3 points, 7.1 rebounds).

Kim Pawlak of the Lady Warriors was a second-team selection. The 5-8 junior averaged 12.2

(See SWC, Page 4D)

Stanback is second-team all-tournament selection

CHAMPAIGN — East St. Louis Assumption center Ian Stanback was named to the 1989 Class A All-tournament team as a second-team selection.

Stanback was a force in the middle this season as he averaged 16.9 points and 17.1 rebounds a game to help lead the Pioneers to the state quarterfinals and a 24-8 season. The 6-7 junior scored 20 points to lead the Pioneers in Friday's 68-58 loss to Prairie Central in Friday's state quarterfinal.

Carlyle center Tom Michael was a unanimous first-team selection after scoring 121 points in four tournament games, including 45 in a semifinal win over Prairie Central. Michael averaged eight rebounds and six blocked shots in leading the Indians to the state title.

Michael's teammate, 6-8 senior forward Jason Peters, was also named to the first team while Carlyle's 5-11 senior guard Scott Horner earned second-team honors.

Michael was named to the first team on all 67 ballots cast by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters covering the tournament last weekend. The 6-4 senior, who will play at the University of Illinois next year, scored 28 points in Carlyle's 65-

56 title game win over Rock Island Alleman.

Joining Michael and Peters on the first team were 6-4 senior forward Brian Wolf of Alleman, and 6-0 junior guard Gary Tidwell and 6-0 senior guard Roby Meier of Prairie Central.

Joining Stanback and Horner on the second team were 6-0 senior guard Derek Watts and 6-1 senior forward Todd Woods of Alleman, and 6-4 senior center Steve Weemer of Tuscola.

BEST IN STATE: Dan McCosky of Madison was awarded a "Best in State" citation by Sports Afield magazine for this 13-pound, 3-ounce walleye caught at Truman Dam in Warsaw, Mo., on April 8, 1988. It was the largest walleye caught in Missouri in 1988. McCosky received a certificate and a sportfish pin to commemorate the catch.

Maxvill on flip side 20 years later

On Baseball

By Rob
Rains

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The picture was famous. On the cover of a Sports Illustrated issue in 1968 was the Cardinal starting lineup, with the heading, "Baseball's highest-paid team."

The shortstop on that club — and the lowest-paid member of the starting lineup — was Dal Maxvill, now the Cardinal general manager.

"That's a real joke now, isn't it?" Maxvill said. Maxvill will preside over a club this year that will set a Cardinal record with a payroll of more than $15 million, an increase of more than $1 million from last year.

Five players on the club will earn more than $1 million apiece — Ozzie Smith, Pedro Guerrero, Willie McGee, Tom Brunansky and Tony Pena. They are five of a record 108 players — out of 700 in the majors — who will earn seven-figure salaries in 1989.

"Ten years ago, who would have thought that would have been possible?" Maxvill said. "And the spiral seems to be going back up."

Where the Cardinals' payroll will rank in comparison to other teams won't be known until after the regular season begins. The club had the seventh-highest payroll last year, and Maxvill doesn't see them dropping many places this season.

"It's pretty much out of our hands if you want to try to compete, which we do," Maxvill said. "If you want to have a contending club, you have to spend the money."

And just a couple of years after owners appeared to be taking a harder stance on increasing salaries, the trend is going upward again.

"It's looks like the recent free-agent year caused spending to start up again," Maxvill said. "Baseball's just going to have to deal with it."

Cardinals manager Whitey Herzog was not surprised by Bob Horner's sudden decision to retire this week. Horner had been trying to win a job with the Baltimore Orioles as a non-roster player, but finally gave in to

"I was really surprised he even came to spring training," Herzog said. "I didn't think he'd try to come back. He just couldn't swing."

Horner hit 218 home runs in his career, and with 3,777 at-bats, his 5.8 homers per 100 at-bats put him on a pace ahead of

Ted Williams and Mike Schmidt. Said former Atlanta teammate Dale Murphy, "He was one of those hitters that was just incredible. Had it not been for injuries, he really would have put some numbers on the board. As far as I'm concerned, he's one of the greatest power hitters I've ever seen."

Ex-Cardinal Jack Clark has found a lot of comparisons between Herzog and his new manager in San Diego, Jack McKeon.

"I'm really looking forward to playing for Jack because already I've been able to tell he's a lot like Whitey," Clark said. "And Whitey was easily the best manager I've ever played for. They tell me he (McKeon) runs the game really well and he's really good with players. He understands them and gives them room, which is what Whitey did so well."

junior from Chris McKinney and a three-pointer by Jackson to regain the lead, 33-32, at halftime.

The Rams pulled ahead 35-33 in the third quarter on a jumper and a free throw by Sanders, who had 21 points, but Jackson answered for Lincoln with a three-pointer of his own and ever Tigers never looked back.

"We were a bit dead at the half, but Jackson hit that three in the third quarter and that opened up things for Cuozzo inside," said Lincoln coach Benie Lewis.

Lewis felt his club played its best defense in the fourth quarter as Mount Vernon was unable to hit a single three-pointer in the final eight minutes.

"We were willing to trade two for two," Lewis said. "When the other team is scoring the two, we feel we can score with anybody. We just had to cut off the three-pointers and we did."

NOTES: The Tigers, ranked fourth in the state, have their work cut out for them. They face No. 3 Aurora East in the quarterfinals, then would likely have to beat No. 2 Chicago King and No. 1 Peoria Central to win state.

missed his first starting assignment this week when he was hit by a pitch in batting practice. He did play a B game the next day and went 3 for 4. The Cubs have been pleased with the play of both centerfielder Jerome

Walton and second baseman Ty Griffin. Walton could well open the season in the starting lineup, but Griffin — one of the stars of last year's Olympic team — likely will begin in Double A. The Angels also are planning on starting one of the Olympic stars, Jim Abbott, in Double A even though manager Doug Rader says Abbott "certainly is one of the 10 best pitchers in our organization."

Youth basketball league wraps up

The Bull Dogs and the Wolverines won year-end tournaments in the Granite City Park District's recreational youth basketball program on March 11.

All participants were divided into teams and the teams were put in two age groups. In the third and fourth grade division, the Bull Dogs overcame a strong challenge from the L.A. Lakers to capture the championship. Team members for the Bull Dogs included Andrew Dersch, John Mills, Jonathan Burnett, Kelly Pithers and Julie Burnett. Team members for the Lakers were Jason Koenig, Mark Dittman, Brian Kamadulski, Adam Tanase, Tim Dittman and Jeff Hayden.

In the fifth and sixth grade division, the Wolverines won the title by defeating the Miami Heat in a close battle. The Wolverines were Scott Jones, Jayson York, Justin McMillian, Brian Lloyd and Jared Embeck. Members of the Miami Heat were Buddy Prazma, Ryan Duff, Angie Bridges, Brent Tracy and Kyle Briggs.

Wake Barber, Granite City Park District recreation supervisor, extends thanks to program director Don Harris and his assistants, Harry Briggs and Andy Lampitt. A special thanks goes to the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of Alton for co-sponsoring the program.

2 from Region I get basketball awards

Two Region I Special Olympians won awards at the Illinois State Special Olympic basketball tournament in Jacksonville last weekend.

Region I includes Special Olympians from Granite City, Madison and Venice. The two winners were Robbie Hubert, who won a third-place award, and Kenny Hahn, who won a fourth-place award.

Hightower leads Coolidge

Danielle Hightower scored 23 points to lead the Coolidge Junior High seventh grade girls to a 38-16 win over Bethalto on Monday.

Park girls softball registration taken

The Granite City Park District is accepting team registrations for girls' softball. The entry fee for the 12-game season is $125 per team, with an additional $10 assessed to non-residents. The entry fee covers a 12-game schedule and game balls. Divisions and age groups are as follows: Atom, 8-10 years old; Bantam, 11-12 years old; and Midget, 13-14 years old. For more information, call Wake Barber at the Wilson Park Office, 877-3059.

Region I athletes place at area meet

Seventeen Special Olympians from Region I participated in the Area 12 regional swimming meet at the SIUE pool on Sunday.

Region I consists of students from Granite City, Madison and Venice. Participants and awards won included: Deb Jacob, sixth place; Paul Solomon, two firsts and one sixth; Tammy Jones, one second and one fifth; Rickey Coates, one first, one fourth and one fifth; John Brannaman, one second, one fourth and one fifth; Tim Redstone, one first, one fourth and one fifth; Zach Whit, two firsts and one fourth; Terrian Rush, one first and one fourth; John Bucks, two firsts and one fourth; Charles Fisher, one first, one third and one fourth; Melva Willman, two thirds and one fourth; Beth Gregus, one second and one third; Pam Auchmoody, two thirds; Cathy Smoot, one first and two thirds; Joe Schmiedke, one first and one second; George Whitton, one first and two seconds; and Steve Courtwright, one first and one second.

points, 3.9 assists and 2.7 steals despite being bothered by a bad ankle the last month of the season. Pawlak was also a 63.2 percent free-throw shooter.

Joining Pawlak on the second team were Collinsville junior Jamie Castillas (12.0 points, 7.3 rebounds); Belleville East senior Vicki Gravitich (8.9 points and an area-leading 10.9 assists per game); Belleville West senior Beth Blair (2.6 points, 5.7 assists); and Alton sophomore Gina Frizzell (15.6 points, 4.0 steals).

Boys

Mike Wilkinson was the only Warrior to appear on the boys All-SWC squad, earning honorable mention.

Wilkinson, a 6-1 senior, averaged 12.3 points and 4.1 rebounds and was a 75.5 percent free-throw shooter. He missed the last two games, including a 61-57 loss to East St. Louis Lincoln in regional action, with a broken hand. Wilkinson scored a season-high 29 points against Madison on Jan. 14 in the Warriors' last win of the season.

Collinsville senior Tim Pace (25.1 points per game) led the first team. Alton's Joe Vann (20.3 points) and East St. Louis' Carlos Skinner (14.0 points) were the other seniors to gain first-team recognition. Alton's Kevin Caldwell (23.5 points) and Belleville West's Dan Biegler (16 points) were juniors named to the first team.

"We got hurt by some bad calls in that game," said Thomas. "We really played a lot better in that one and felt a lot better."

The Warriors were hurt by some questionable calls early in that game and had one touchdown pass from Bobby Thomas to Larry Evanoff taken away on a late holding call and another touchdown opportunity ruined by a fumble at the goal line.

"I think we would have won at least three of the games we missed because of the strike," said Lane. "We're optimistic. (Graduating senior) Randy Odom was really running hard for us at the end of the season."

"Yeah, Collinsville got a lucky win out of it (the Granite City strike)," Hahne said.

"And it didn't hurt that most of the teams we did play made the playoffs," said Thomas. "We didn't get to play the games we had a good chance of winning."

"We just need to get a little stronger and quicker and we have a decent shot at 500 this year," said Bryan Neidhardt. Ed Linhart, Neidhardt and Thomas were lift-off winners in competition held among team members and received trophies from head coach Ron Yates. Linhart won in the 150-pound class, Neidhardt won at 175 and Thomas won at 200.

"This is a good group of guys," Yates said. "They got the word spread out and we've had 40 to 50 guys out here on some nights. They don't want to go through another season like the last two."

And certainly neither does Yates. He and assistant coach Roy Logan have been supervising the workouts and have been happy with what they've seen. "Coach Logan has really put a lot of good work into this," Yates said. "We've seen the hard work can work to our advantage."

And maybe erase the memories of a lost autumn.

Three Great New Chevs for Under $190 a Month.

Value, contemporary styling, roomy comfort and a smooth, firm ride have made Corsica, Chevy Beretta and Cavalier, Chevy's most popular cars.

They're about to become even more popular. Because now you've got three great bonus reasons to buy one of these three great cars. (1) Low financing. (2) Stretch out your payments to 60 months (3) Popular option package values.

What it adds up to is this: You get the Chevy you want, PLUS the options you want, for under $190 a month.

Shown below is a sample list of Preferred Equipment Group (P.E.G.) option packages that are available. Act now and enjoy a new Chevy with the right equipment and the right price. See your Chevrolet dealer for details.
